In Omnibus Excelsior

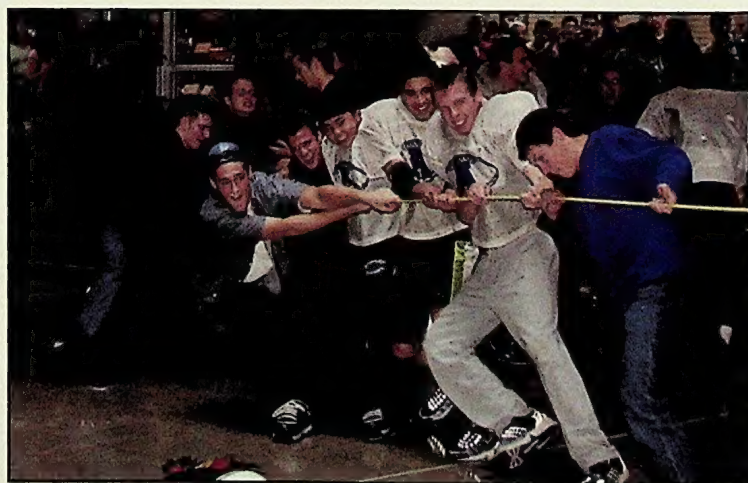

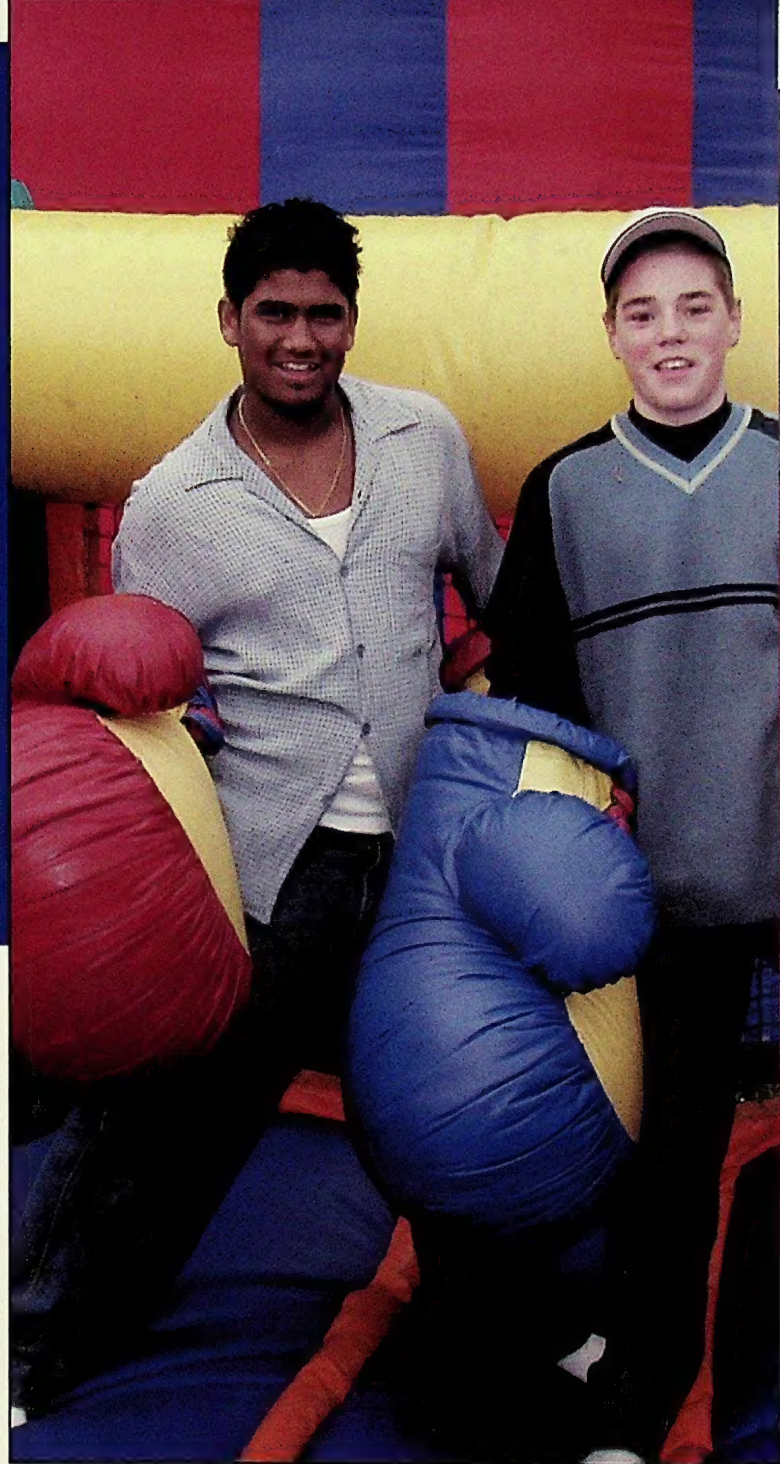

In all things excellence... the motto of Harry Ainlay High School. Upon consideration, there is nothing that more adequately describes the atmosphere of this fine institution. Excellence can be seen in every corner of the school. From the classrooms to sport courts to the surrounding community, Titans have made "In Omnibus Excelsior" a reality. Known for its strong academic program, its fantastic sports teams, and its formidable arts program, Harry Ainlay has achieved a first-rate reputation in Western Canada.

Titan Pride

Harry Ainlay has a lot to be proud of. Boasting strong academics, athletics, and arts, it is well respected all across Western Canada. From their attitudes to their achievements, Titans are proud of their success and excellence. Ainlay is the home of many outstanding students, each with talents, abilities and personalities that make one proud to be a Titan.

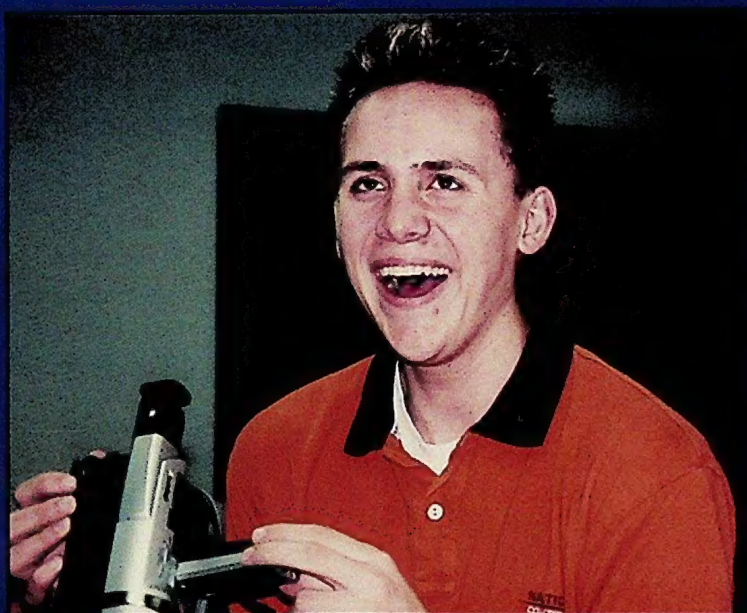

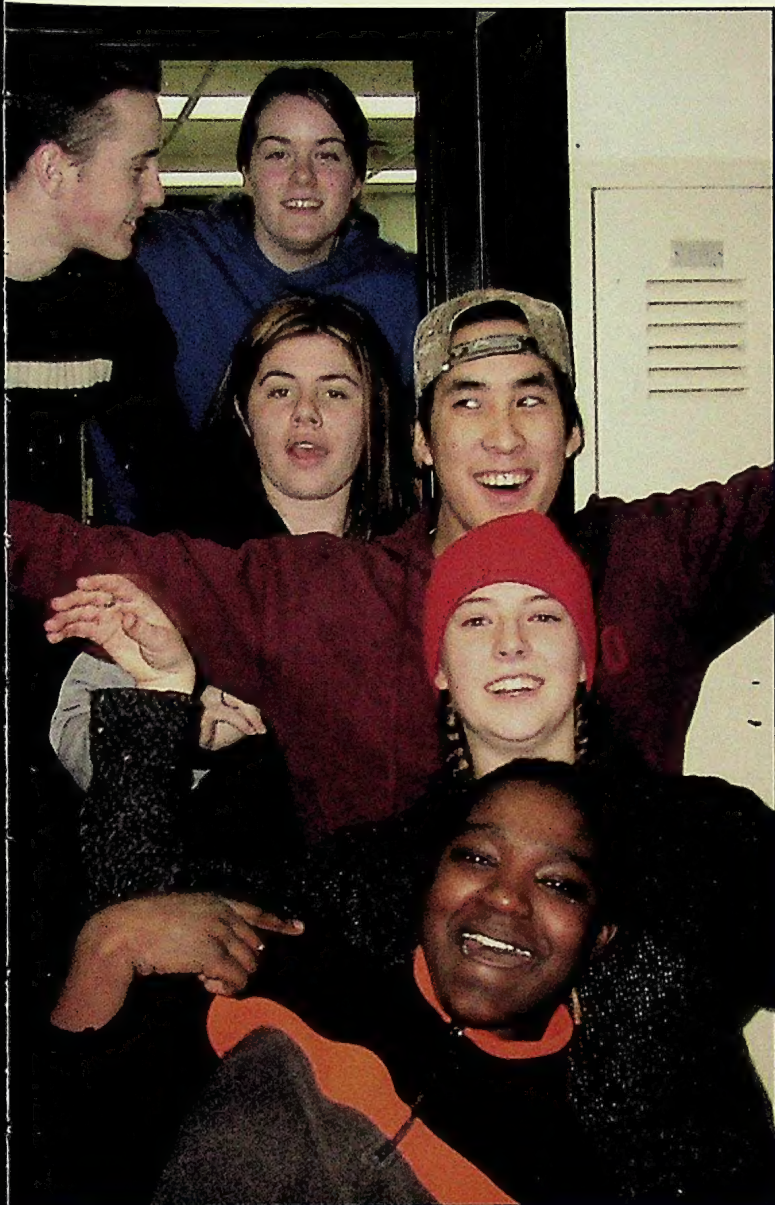

Caught in the Act

While Titans take their work at Ainlay very seriously, they never cease to combine the right amount of spontaneity with their daily routines. Walking through the halls, one can literally see the bubbling creativity as students decorate lockers, sing, and maybe even dance. Their love of life is an essential part of the Ainlay atmosphere – adding a sense of zest to the brown “bunker.”

Work Hard, Play Hard

Combining work and play is one of the most challenging tasks in life, yet Titans seem to have mastered the skill. Throughout the day (and sometimes the night...), in classrooms and hallways alike, both teachers and students combine learning and amusement. Theme days, tournaments and spontaneous events promote an environment where entertainment both promotes and relieves the pressure of learning.

Timeless Friendships

Not only is high school a time of education, but it is also a time of getting to know people. Throughout one's time at Ainlay, old friendships are strengthened, new friendships forged and new acquaintances made. These three years are a time for exploring, discovering and remembering friendships... Wherever one goes, whatever one becomes, true friends will always be there.

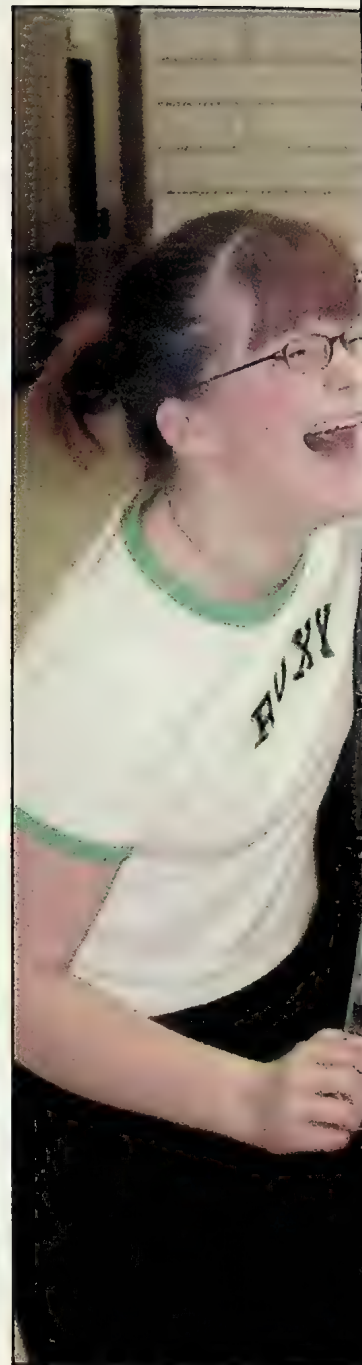

Forever Titans

Wherever one goes, whatever one becomes, the Ainlay experience will remain an integral part of one's life... the friends, the memories, and the experiences will always be looked back on with a smile. Together Titans have shared laughter, happiness, anger, and sadness, yet they are made ever stronger because of their time together.

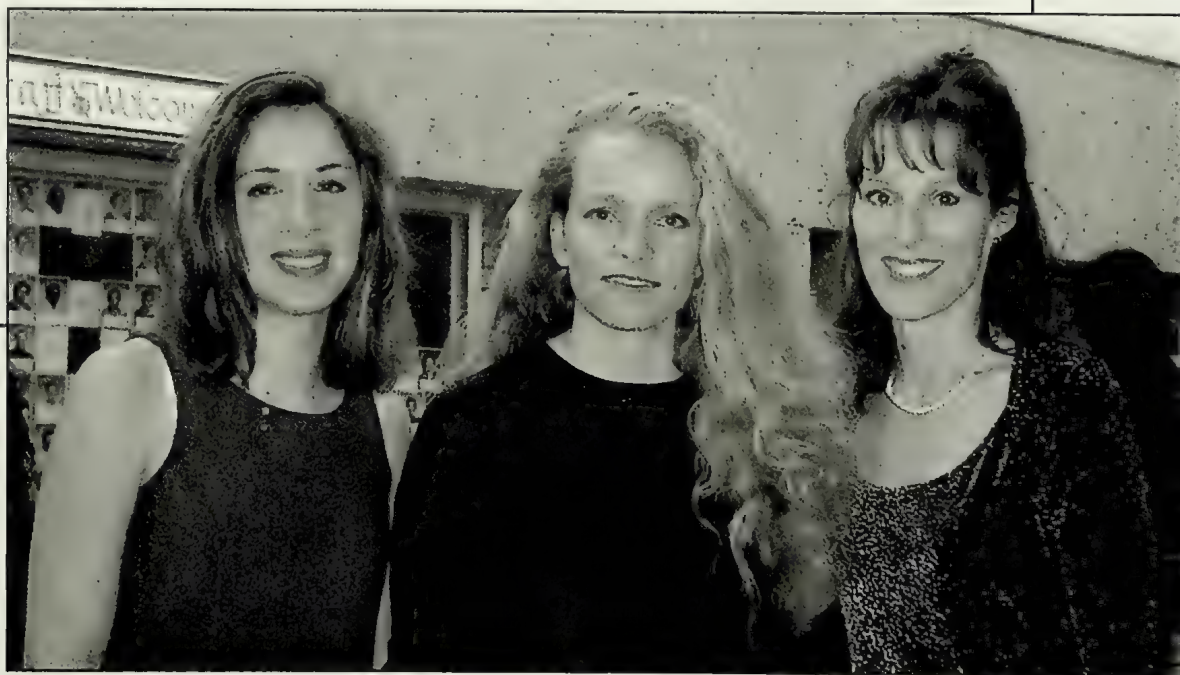

Staff

The individuals of Harry Ainlay can really be categorized into two main groups: students and staff. Yet, where would the students be without the staff? (They would probably be off gallivanting somewhere or another...) Harry Ainlay staff provides the backbone of the school. The wonderful custodial, support and teaching staffs create a clean, optimistic and friendly atmosphere.

*"Throughout the years,
we build relationships,
work
together...
and then we smile at our triumphs."*

Principal's Message

The 2001-2002 school year has been an eventful and challenging year for everyone. Starting with the tragedy of September 11, an event that deeply impacted us all, the year continued to unfold with many unexpected events that served to remind each of us of the resilience and spirit of the Titan clan. Your commitment to excellence and good character helped to keep attitudes and outlooks positive and to ensure that the high standards you set for yourselves were attained. It is with great pride that we celebrate your many accomplishments in academics, in CTS, in the fine arts, in athletics and in community service. We know that these successes do not come without personal sacrifices, dedication, and hard work on the part of the many talented students, their families and the school staff. Working together, sharing the responsibility for teaching and learning and respecting each other's strengths and differences has allowed the Titan family to grow and to succeed. The memories proudly displayed on these pages will be with you for a lifetime. The lessons you have learned, the friends you have made and the positive character traits and attitudes you have developed will be powerful tools in future years.

When the memories of 2001-02 are reviewed there will be many individuals and events to recall but in the final review there will remain the closing thought "and then there were the Titans" – champions and leaders who could always be counted on to do the right thing even when no one was looking.

Sincerely,

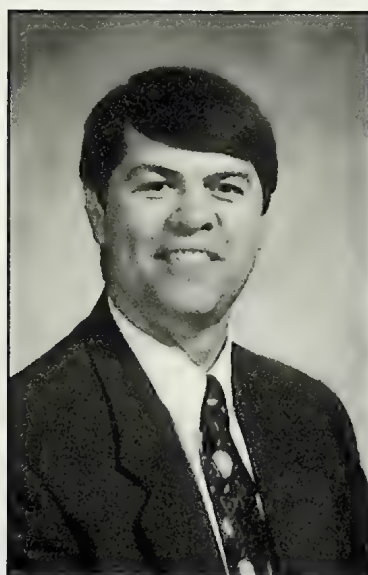

Ms. Corinne McCabe

Grade Ten

Grade 10...the up and coming lifeblood of the school. These are the students that will be the star leaders, scholars, and athletes. Grade 10s give the school its dynamic as their hesitant smiles radiate enthusiasm and hope. A little shy and uncertain at first, they eventually fully embrace life at Ainlay and prepare for three years of hard work.

Clubs

No other high school can compare to Ainlay's diversity of student groups and clubs. Together, Titans have traveled the globe, encountered deep-sea adventures, published materials, and reached out to the surrounding communities. There is no doubt that Ainlay's student groups contribute the school's vibrant pulse, bettering both internal and external relationships.

“With a common interest,
 we become ~~involved~~,
 create new friendships...
 and then we share our passion.”

Students' Union

What a year it has been! It is impossible to sum up our entire year of activities in a few pages. The Students' Union has had a busy and successful year, organizing events such as Touch of Class, Aloha Ainlay, CultureFest, the Arts at Ainlay and so much more! This energetic group of individuals has had a great time planning everything from rotunda activities to events within the community, helping to contribute to the positive image that Titans promote. The community has benefited through events such as A Walk Around the World, McKee Christmas Party, Food Bank and Turkey Drive, and many more. Thanks, Titans, for participating and supporting your Students' Union!

President's Message

My past three years at Harry Ainlay have been absolutely incredible! Above all, I cannot even begin to express what a pleasure it has been to serve as your Students' Union President this year. I love this school! The students and staff here are what bring this windowless structure to life and make Harry Ainlay represent so much to me. It has been a year unlike any other, full of excitement and surprises. We all made the absolute most of it and should be so proud of what we have accomplished. As I look back across this successful year, I am flooded with images of priceless and unforgettable moments. It has been an incredible journey, and we owe it all to each other. Thanks for every memory!

Student Activities

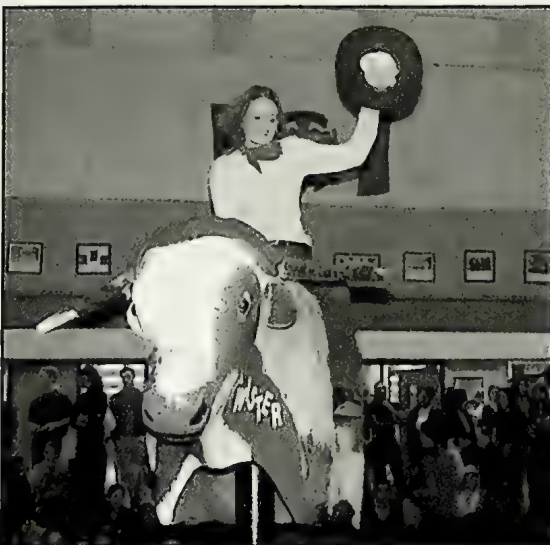

This has been a year full of exciting events, and the pictures are priceless! We have demonstrated great character all year long and our Titan pride is contagious! Aloha Ainlay, the Pep Rally & BBQ, McDonald's Character Ed. Challenge, Halloween Week, CFR Day, Christmas Week, the Excellence Luncheons, and TVT are only a small representation of the many things that go on at Ainlay. The number of students and staff that get involved in the organization of our activities is incredible, and participation is always outstanding! We never fail to keep ourselves well-entertained while brightening up our dull hallways! Never forget all of the good times that have contributed to this unique Ainlay experience!

Titanic

The Titanic is the student newspaper at Ainlay. In 2001-2002, it was led by three editors: Sumudu Fernando, Leigh Hudson, and Arthur Keng. Its goal of providing a forum for ideas and entertainment for students was achieved more successfully than ever before. The paper's run was disrupted by events such as the Teacher's Strike, but all members showed resilience and took everything in stride. As a result, this year's newspaper was frequently described as the best ever, both in terms of content and professional appearance. The paper had approximately 20 dedicated staff members who worked hard to produce a quality publication.

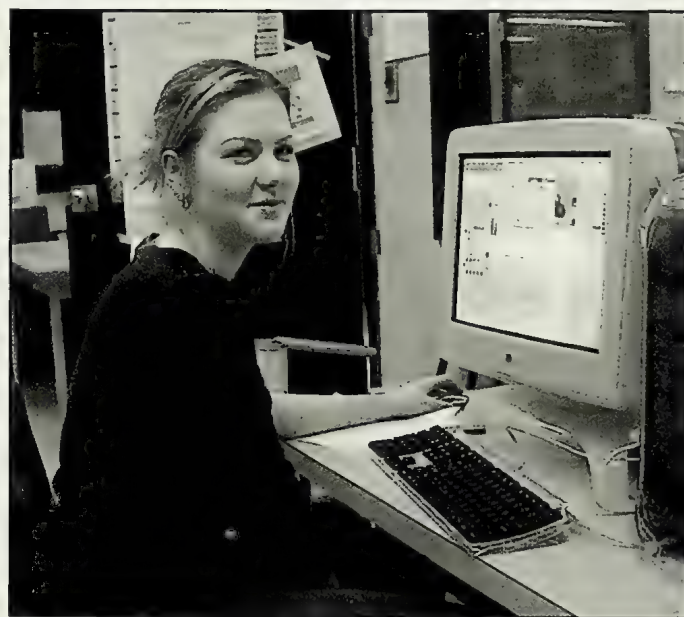

Weight Club

As members of the Weight Club students are allowed to workout before school from 7:30 to 8:00, during lunch hours until 12:40 and after school until 5:00 pm and during their study periods. Students lift weights for a variety of reasons such as muscle toning, strength, and muscular endurance. Cardiovascular exercises like bike riding and skipping are also done for total body fitness.

Titan Tradition

This year's Yearbook was produced 99.5% digitally. Images were captured with digital cameras, cropped in Photoshop, and page layouts were produced in Pagemaker. The page files were burned onto CD's and then shipped to the plant for printing. Editors, section editors, and other yearbook staff put in hundreds of hours organizing, planning, editing and producing the yearbook. Yearbook students came at lunch hours, spares, after school and some nights until 10 pm to work on pages. The work of these students will be cherished for many years to come. We hope you thoroughly enjoy the creations of these hard-working students.

Scuba Club

The Scuba Club consisted of 15 members. Eleven of these members were new to the sport and completed 27 hours of classroom and swimming pool instruction. A scuba trip was organized for the club to Victoria, B.C. where the students took their certification test during the spring break. Two of the four advanced divers took the advanced dive training and the other two took the specialty dive training. All members did a boat dive, three shore dives and had fun playing with the sea creatures. The members had an exciting and memorable trip.

The Table Tennis Club at Harry Ainlay had experienced its ups and downs this year. One exciting project was the planning of a much-anticipated first-ever Titans Table Tennis Tournament. Although the tournament was cancelled due to the Teacher's Strike, the Table Tennis Club still was able to boast about its thirty some-odd members. Students of all ages, genders, and nationalities would be found holding their paddles high ready for action. Students were able to share their common interest in this world renowned sport throughout the school year. This club, as destined from the beginning, was a smash!

Ping Pong

Games Clubs

Ms. Pombert's room 171 was a popular gathering place for the Chess and Games Club as well as for Ping Pong players. Week long games of Risk were a new event this year, with the rise and fall of alliances on a daily basis. The conquest of Japan exemplified the single-mindedness of Jungsuk Ryu despite the groans of opponents.

Amnesty International

Students get involved in the Amnesty International social justice club for a variety of reasons. Some do to promote awareness, some to feel empowered, some to meet friends, some to do the WRITE thing. Our first campaign was to "Free Mr. Powell." After we collected 500 student and staff signatures we released Mr. Powell from a make-shift jail in the rotunda. The Ainlay community learned how effective writing a letter or signing a petition can be.

International Human Rights' Day (Dec. 10) was marked by lighting candles as a tribute to freedom. The Amnesty slogan "It Is Better To Light A Candle Than Curse The Darkness" was demonstrated in this activity.

Steering Committee members of the Amnesty Club planned meetings, activities, awareness campaigns; spoke in classes on the topic of human rights and spread the word of social justice and global citizenship.

Ainlay Ambassadors

Ainlay Ambassadors promotes youth activism in the community. In response to September 11th, the Ainlay Ambassadors organized the 911-Run for America-- a 4 km/1km run or walk and rally staged at the Alberta Legislature grounds and river valley. It raised over $6000 for the Red Cross. The Ainlay Ambassadors also visited an inner-city school for a Christmas ornament session and helped raise funds for the Edmonton Food Bank and Youth Emergency Shelter at the St. Patrick's Day Fun Run. Throughout the year, these dedicated students have used their creativity and energy to act as ambassadors from Harry Ainlay to the community.

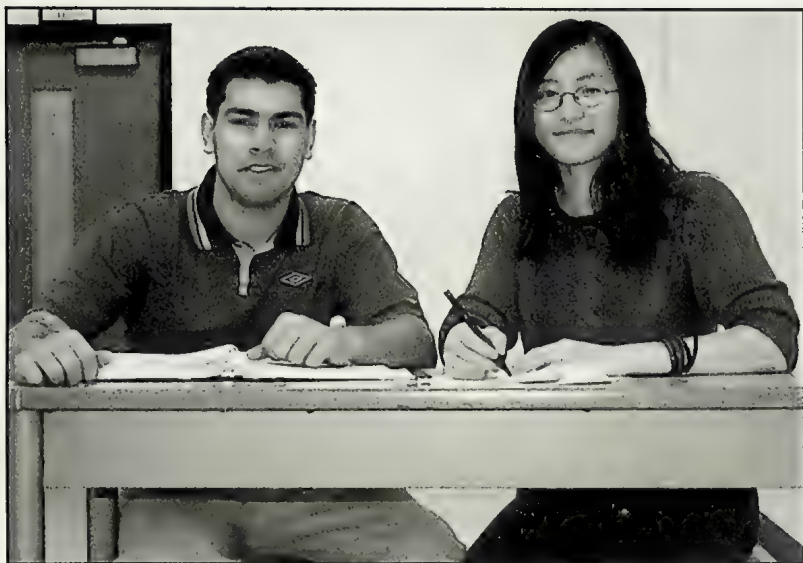

The Schoolreach (a.k.a. Reach for the Top) team competes against other schools in the Edmonton area in trivia. Questions can be about absolutely anything. They generally focus on material learned in school, plus entertainment, sports, and the arts. In any given game, there are four players on each team, but there can be substitutes between games. Reach for the Top is the oldest high school quiz show in Canada. In 1968, Alex Trebek even hosted the show, "Trans-World Top Team", a production of BBC and CBC.

This year was Harry Ainlay's first Schoolreach team and had several participants. Students met on Fridays in Room 354. Although shaky from inexperience, the team, coached by Mr. Huellstrung, proved their brilliance as they made it to provincials in Edmonton. There, they managed to win a game, but in the playoffs, they wiped out in the first round. Oh well, there's always next year!

School Reach

Debate Club

The 2001-2002 school year saw Harry Ainlay's Speech and Debate Club succeed tremendously. Not only did membership grow, competition results gave Harry Ainlay a strong name in both speech and debate at the regional and provincial levels. Club members participated in a wide variety of tournaments, from the Rick Pawluk and Sir Winston Churchill debates to Model Legislature and Mock Trials. Students debated important issues and spoke on meaningful topics, forged new friendships, and of course had fun, with some occasional drama!

Harry Ainlay's Maria Chen and Naheed Alidina finished in second place at the Provincial Debate. This team qualified for two national tournaments which takes place in Winnipeg in November 2002. On an individual basis, Maria Chen placed third at the Provincial Debate Championships.

At Regional Speech Championships, Naheed Alidina, placed second in the Original Oratory category. Maria Chen placed first in the Oral Interpretation of Poetry category.

At the Edmonton Law Courts Mock Trial competition Ainlay's three teams captured Gold, Bronze and 5th place.

President Salima Versi is passing the torch onto her replacement Tammy Bach.

Encounters With Canada

Encounter the capital of Canada, the heart of Canada, the spirit of Canada, the nature of Canada. Encounters with Canada is a one-week program of Canadian Studies held at the Terry Fox Canadian Youth Centre in Ottawa. Each week, more than 130 high school students, aged 15–17, come from across the country to the nation's capital for a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. Encounters with Canada brings together young Canadians from different backgrounds and regions to give them an opportunity to learn about one another, and to gain a better understanding of this wonderful, vast country!

Anime

Ainlay's Anime Club -TANE- has been busy this year, playing a number of shows Thursdays at lunch in room 333. We have also participated in the annual Anime Alberta T-shirt contest again this year so look out for our newest T-shirts. Our club has grown this year with the help of our association with Anime Alberta and other companies. They have contributed in making our club this fun!

Origami Club

The Origami Club provides an opportunity to unfold one's creative side by turning paper into delicate, simple or complex Japanese art. Demonstrations are held to provide lessons on how to fold flowers, animals, geometric shapes and other artistic forms. Everyone at the Origami club has a relaxing and enjoyable time!

Titans International

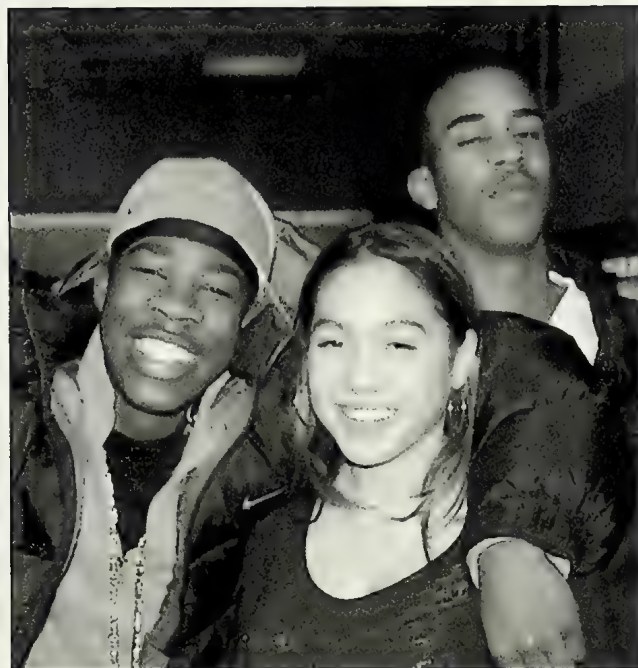

Titans International is the new name for the club, PALS. We continue to plan activities for the ESL and international members of our school, giving them the chance to participate in Canadian activities that they might not otherwise have the chance to do. Starting with our awesome Welcome Picnic in Hawrelak Park, we planned one field trip per month for our students. We visited Spooktacular at Fort Edmonton Park and volunteered at Festival of Trees. For school activities, we also did karaoke and ran in the Gingerbread House contest.

Grade Eleven

Grade 11... the middle year – neither at the top nor on the bottom. Grade 11s are the most refreshing people one can ever encounter. Fully immersed in high school life, Grade 11s are caught up in the moment. Living each day for the excitement it brings, they take on life with enthusiasm that refreshes the Grade 12s and encourages the Grade 10s.

“Living in the moment,
we stress
about deadlines work hard for our marks... and then we enjoy our last
free summer.”⁹⁹

Athletics

Athletics can be defined as “competitive activities requiring physical skill and endurance.” Here at Ainlay, one is quite literally overwhelmed with the calibre of skill and endurance that resonates through the halls. From swimming to volleyball to multiple other sports, Titans have always taken the Ainlay banner to new heights – creating a lasting and impressive reputation throughout the surrounding community. Titans have trained hard, played hard and triumphed, which is no easy task!

“With perseverance
and cooperation,
we practice hard,
compete with the best...
and then we come out on top.”

Senior Volleyball

Ainlay Makes Volleyball History!

This year, Ainlay became the only highschool ever in the City of Edmonton to sweep the Volleyball City Championships following star performances at the Titan Volleyball Tournament. Congratulations to all of our amazing volleyball players and their coaches. The Senior Women also captured a Provincial Silver Medal while the Senior Men won the Provincial Bronze Medal. Let's hope this becomes an Ainlay Tradition!

Senior Women's Volleyball

The Senior Women's Volleyball team had an outstanding season. The team won the 4A Provincial Silver medal, Edmonton City Championship, University of Alberta tournament, Titan Volleyball Tournament, Salisbury tournament and won the Bronze medal at the Handsworth tournament in Vancouver, B.C. Our season record was an amazing 47 win and 5 losses. Consistently throughout the season, the team demonstrated superior abilities, outstanding sportsmanship and unbreakable character. Well done ladies!!

Junior Volleyball

Junior Men's Volleyball

Every success story always has its obstacles. For the junior boys' team, it was at the beginning of the year with their unsuccessful semi-finals in Calgary. Despite the rough start, the players grew together as a team with their amazing skills, and the results changed. The team won gold medals at the Salisbury, TVT and Red Deer tournaments. The team also went on to win the City Championships. The difference came when the players became a group of friends that loved the game of volleyball. Thanks to the coaches.

Junior Women's Volleyball

The Junior Women started the season off by winning a gold medal at the Western Canada Tournament in Calgary. They finished the first round of league play and ranked #1 with a record of 6 wins and 0 losses. In the final round of league play the team ranked #2 with a record of 6 wins and 1 loss. The team went on to win quarterfinals, semifinals and the final glory of becoming the 2001 City Champions. At Ainlay's TVT Classic Tournament they captured the gold medal to join Ainlay's three other gold medal volleyball teams.

Soccer

Ainlay's soccer teams did very well this year. The Senior Women's team had a great season finishing first in their group. At the finals, they played against Spruce Grove winning with a score of 3-1 in the City Championship. The Senior Men started off with a bit of the struggle but still managed to get into the quarter finals where they played hard but suffered a disappointing loss to Scona with a last minute penalty shot. The Junior Men on the other hand, had a wonderful year finishing off the regular season with only one loss. They then went into the semifinals against McNally, easily defeating them 4-1. In the final game they played Ross Shep in what was a very challenging game. The team rallied together and beat Shep 3-1 to finally take the city championship after being eliminated in the quarter finals for the last 3 years. Considering that soccer was short lived this year all the teams did very well, congrats!

Golf

Women's Golf

The Ainlay women's golf team had a very successful year with the winning of the Provincial Zone 4A Championship and Whitney Cox winning gold at the Provincial Golf Championships this year in Westlock/Barrhead. The girls participated and won the Fort Saskatchewan High School and Salisbury High School Invitational as well.

Men's Golf

The four members of the team were chosen from an original group of 20 hopefuls. These four were chosen based on the best scores of the participants. The team played in the City Championships, at the Links Golf Course in Spruce Grove, finishing in sixth place with a three player aggregate of 249, 16 strokes behind the winning team from Memorial High School.

Mr. L. Hignell (Coach), Matt Haupt, Michael Truong, Braden Nehring, Mathew Truong

The 2001 Harry Ainlay Cross Country Team had a great running season. Each member trained hard and had fun. Five of our athletes, Angela Bentley, Ian Benbow, Andre Locker, Travis McKay and Aaron Robson, qualified and competed at provincials. Aaron won gold in his division, Travis won a silver and Andre ran strong to finish in the top ten. Thanks to our coaches.

Cross-Country

Curling Team

Despite the bizarre nature of this year's curling schedule (late start, new coaches, no city and provincial playdowns) the Ainlay teams did very well. Both teams took winning records into the league playoffs. The senior mens' team made it to the quarter-finals and junior team made it to the consolation final. Congratulations to our very own "Men (and Women) with Brooms"!

Wrestling Team

The team was coached by Charles Relland, an experienced coach from outside the school. The team attended several dual meets at Wagner, Jasper Place, and Louis St. Laurent School during the months of December and January. Four wrestlers participated in the Strathcona Invitational Meet in mid-December with Suzie Southam and Jessica Caswell each winning gold, and Matt Mowbrey winning silver.

Just before the teachers strike, six wrestlers participated in the Golden Bear Invitational Meet at the U of A with Jessica Caswell winning a gold and Jeya Naicker, a silver. During the three week strike, the wrestlers worked out at private clubs in hopes that the City Finals on February 22 would not be cancelled. Fortunately for the wrestlers, the teachers were ordered back to work on the same day so they were able to attend the Finals at Bellerose School in St Albert. Great results were achieved with six out of nine wrestlers earning a medal and a trip to the Provincials. Jamie Brownell and Shauna McFadyen took gold, Jeya Naicker won silver while Matt Mowbrey, Jessica Caswell, and Kyle Arsenault finished with a bronze.

At Provincials, which were held at Louis St. Laurent on March 2, the competition was very tough but Jessica Caswell prevailed to win a gold medal. Jeya Naicker also finished with a bronze. A great season ending for a tough group of wrestlers. Thanks to Coach Rell who put in hours and hours with the

Senior Basketball

Senior Women's Basketball

The Senior Women's basketball team had another outstanding season. The team went undefeated in league play, won the City Championship for the eleventh year in a row, won the Zone Championship for Edmonton and the surrounding area, and placed a very strong second place at this years provincial championships. The team won the very prestigious Alberta Sports Athletic Association Sportsmanship Award at the 4A Provincial Championships 2002. This year's team proved that you can be both outstanding competitors and exhibit great class and sportsmanship at the same time. Congratulations to this fantastic group of Ainlay Titans.

Senior Men's Basketball

The Senior Titans were one of the top teams in Alberta this past season. Highlights included tournaments at the Totem Hoop Classic Championship and the Lord Beaverbrook Invitational Tournament. The Titans won the Edmonton Public League Championship and finished fourth at the 4A Provincial Championships.

Junior Basketball

Junior Men's Basketball

This year Junior Titans had a great season. The team finished with a 25-4 record, winning the LLOYDMINSTER Tournament and the Hunting Hills Tournament. The team finished 3rd in Calgary and Vancouver. The boys ended their season in the City Finals against Ross Sheppard losing a exciting back and forth final, 84-79. Govind Pandompam was named the teams MVP while Jon Olsen and AJ Stoye won the Best Defensive and most Inspirational award for the team. These Titans were outstanding ambassadors for Ainlay.

Junior Women's Basketball

The Harry Ainlay Junior Women's Basketball Team achieved what we set out to do this year, to be the best team we could be. Along the way, the team earned top honours at the Hunting Hills and Salisbury High School tournaments as well as capturing the City Championship with a 78-43 victory over Jasper Place. Other highlights of the season included the last second 41-40 victory over John Maland High School at the NAIT tourney. A truly great season for a great team!

Once again, the Titan Track & Field team had a tremendous amount of success at the City and Provincial Championships. This year the track team had 77 athletes going into the City Championships and twenty-two athletes participating at the Provincial meet. Mark Cocks was the most decorated athlete winning 3 gold medals and one silver at Cities and another 3 gold medals and a bronze at Provincial Championship. A special congratulations goes out to the Sr. Men 4 x 100m relay team (Leong, Howell, Cocks & Amsbaugh) who dominated the last three years of high school relay including a provincial record at the intermediate level (2001). Carle Evans has also had strong performances for Ainlay in the 200m, 400m and 800m over the past 3 years. Thanks to all and congratulations for a great season.

Swim Team

This year the swim team had 93 enthusiastic members. Six swim meets were held to determine placement in the city finals. Coaches Sophie, Jack and Caitlin did a fantastic job of preparing the team of 48 swimmers for the city finals, and Ainlay finished 3rd overall, with several events being won by our swimmers. The men's team won 6 gold medals at the city finals meet. Jian Chang won gold in each of his events. Jian Chang, Jason Ramcharan, Andrew Symes and Philippe Marchand also won the 200m Freestyle Relay. Many of our members placed in the top 5 for their events.

This year's Cheer team was the largest ever cheerleading group in Harry Ainlay's history. Two teams including 12 members on Small Varsity and 20 members on Large Varsity cheered their hearts out at every senior and junior football game. The Cheer team was coached by one dynamic coach, two returning veterans who served as assistant coaches and three teacher advisors who supported this hardworking, enthusiastic and talented team of athletes. The large varsity captured the provincial title in March and the small varsity placed 2nd at the Nationals in Toronto in April. Congratulations to all team members and thanks for representing Harry Ainlay so well this year.

Junior Football

With 3 minutes left in the City Championship game, Ainlay was winning 14 – 13. However, due to circumstances beyond our control... that, unfortunately, was not the final score. The Junior season was very successful with 6 wins and 3 losses. Chris Muchena was selected as the most outstanding player in the entire league, which consisted of 9 city high schools. A Special Thanks to all of the team's coaches!

Curricular

Curricular: the heartbeat of school life. For years and years, students work and study diligently, cumulating in their high school experience. From the core subjects to the arts to career and technology studies, Titans work hard to excel in what they undertake. Stressing rigour and challenge, the academics create well-rounded individuals.

“Confident in our capabilities,
we finish
our homework,
study before exams...
and then we excel.”

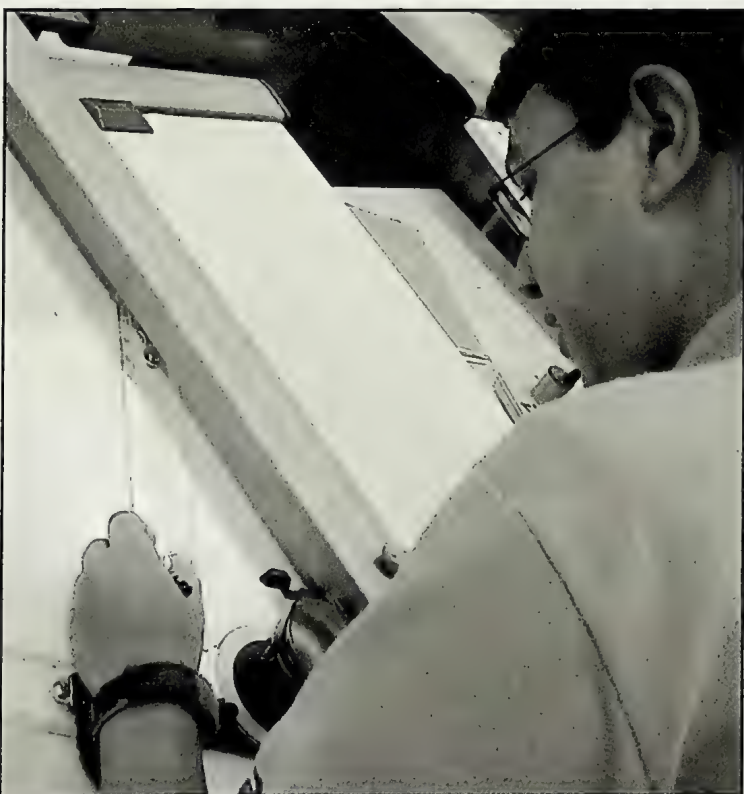

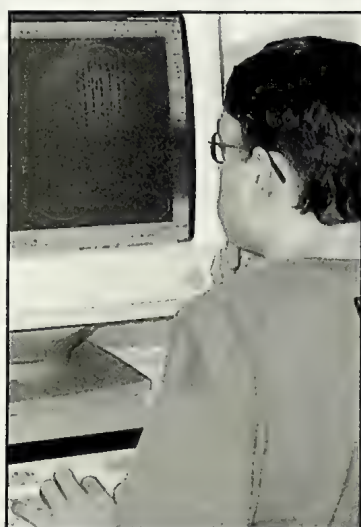

Career & Technology Studies

... Hands on Education

Can you believe it? Ainlay offers 13, lucky, fun, and fascinating hands on CTS courses. Students take CTS courses for fun, others to investigate career opportunities and some even start their apprenticeship training while in high school. Some students try several different CTS courses whereas others choose to focus on only one area throughout high school. The things you learn in core subjects you get to apply hands on in CTS courses. Students make and take home cool things like wooden tables, metal sculptures, cakes, photographs, printed t-shirts, drafted house plans, computer art, a business plan, a fixed car and even a new hair style! The toughest thing to do is choosing which CTS course to take. Ohh! So many choices.

CTS courses include:

Automotive Technology
Communication Technology
Construction Technology
Cosmetology
Design Studies
Enterprise & Innovation
Fabrication Studies
Fashion Studies
Financial Management
Foods
Information Processing
Legal Studies
Managaement & Marketing

CTS Fashion Show

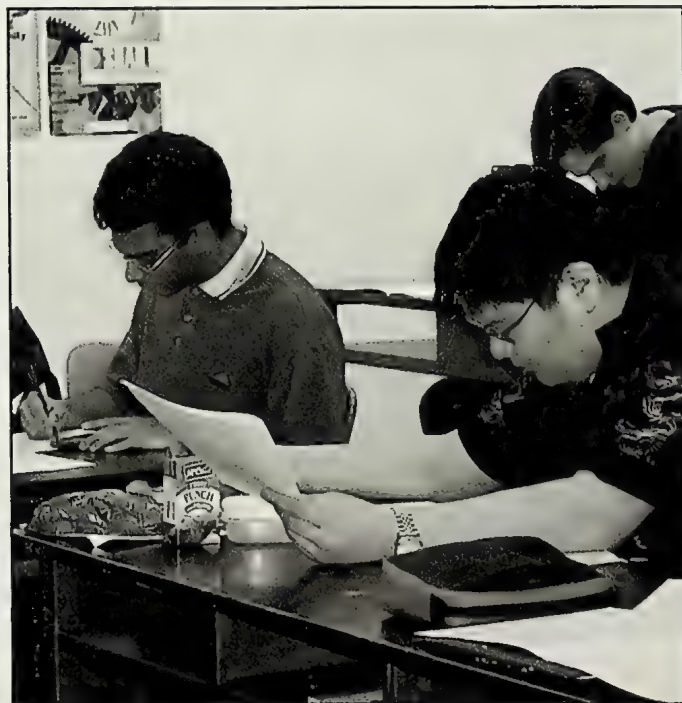

The CTS Fashion Studies students designed and sewed all of the outfits on these two pages. On April 11th these students modeled their outfits to the cheers of Ainlay's lunch hour crowd. Beautiful Work!

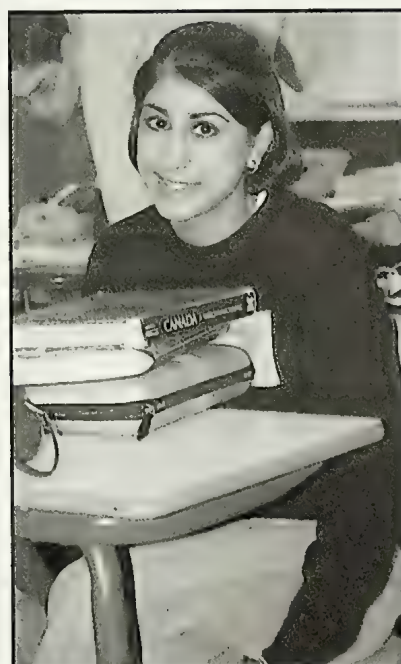

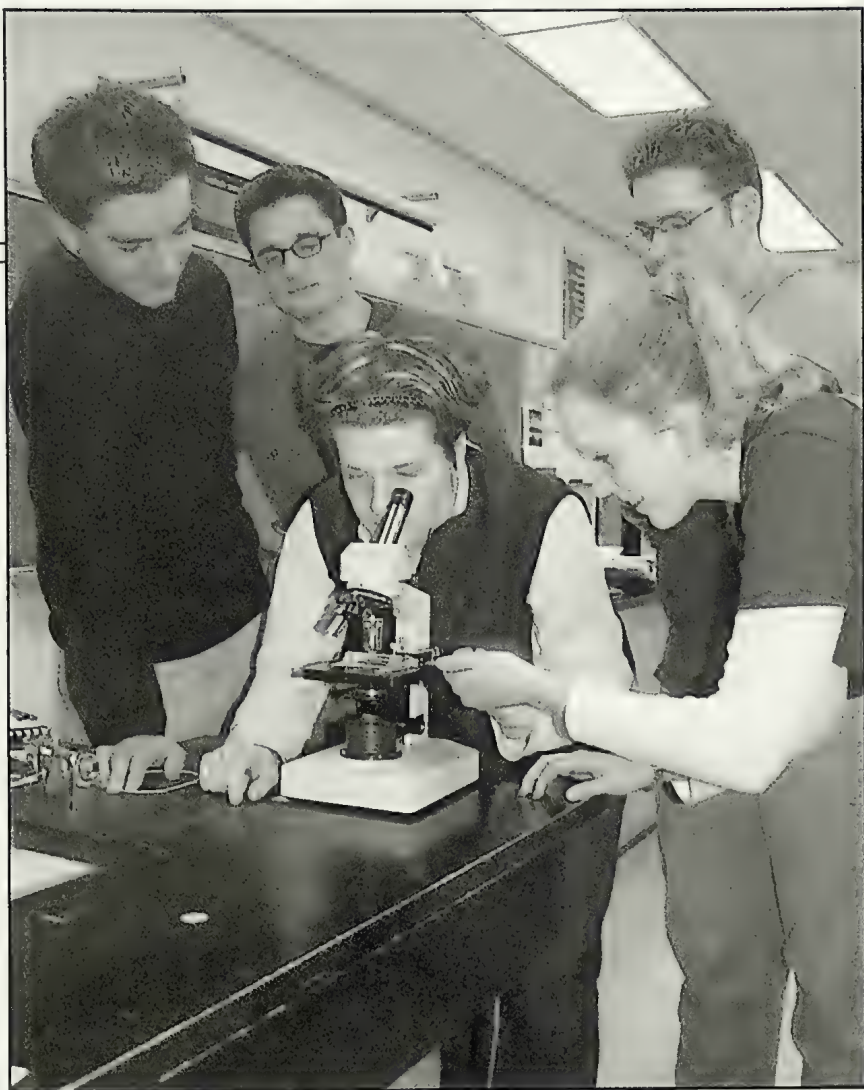

International Baccalaureate Program

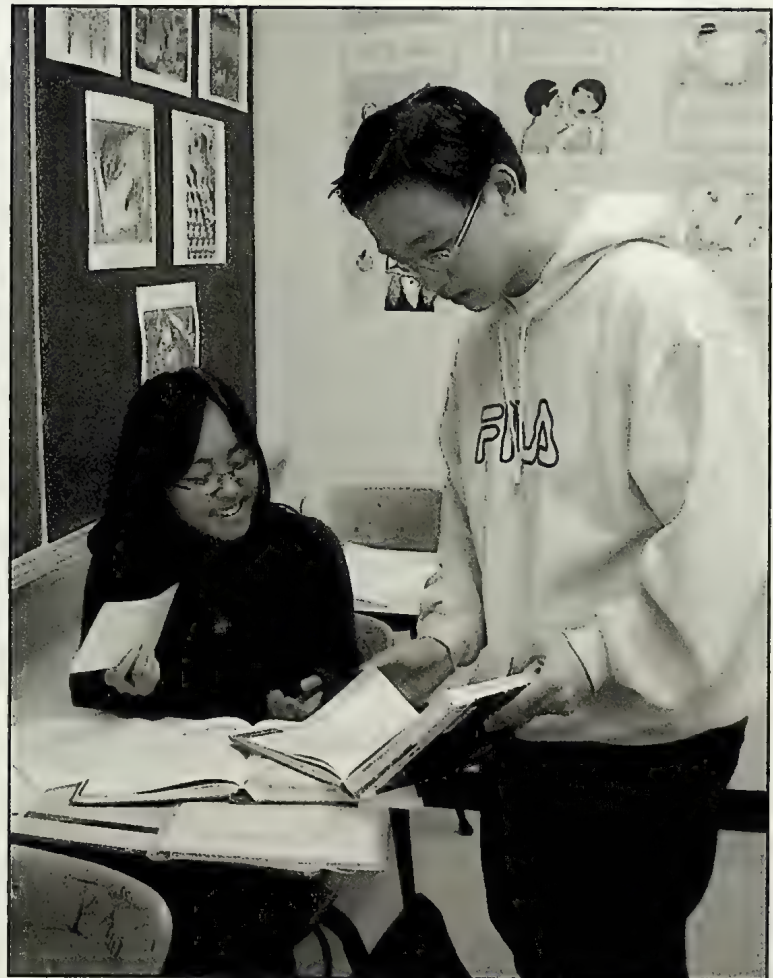

Ever wonder how IB students spend their free time? Any guesses? Perhaps... studying, or doing a "bunch of homework"? This assumption is correct to some extent, but one would not have a complete picture of what it really means to be in IB. IB students also participate in many fun and exciting curricular and extra-curricular activities. IB can be a great deal of work, but in return it promotes responsibility and strong time management skills. The program prepares students for university by exposing them to a fast-paced learning environment that helps push students to develop to their full potential. IB is a well-rounded program of studies, that allows students to develop knowledge and skill in many areas such as: essay writing; solving complex math problems; conducting, designing, and writing up scientific experiments; and learning exciting new languages. IB provides a challenging atmosphere that can bring a real sense of accomplishment to its students.

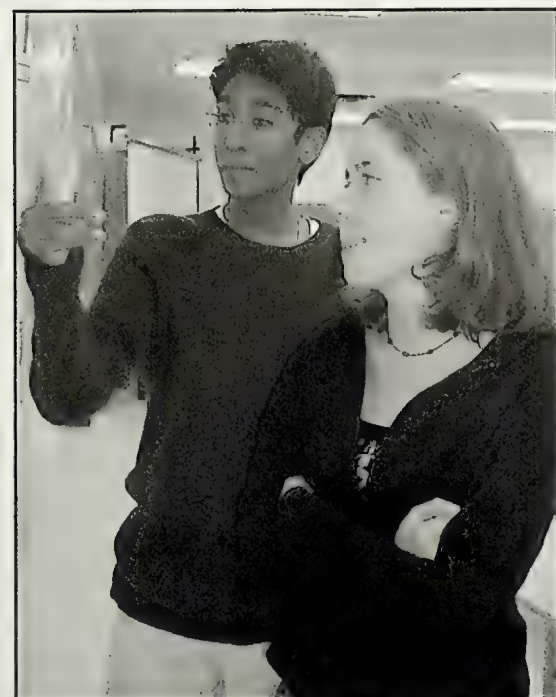

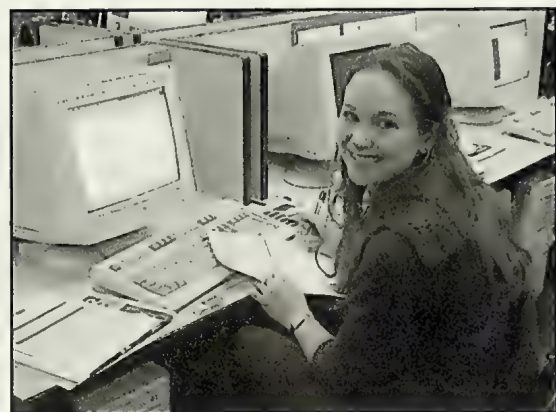

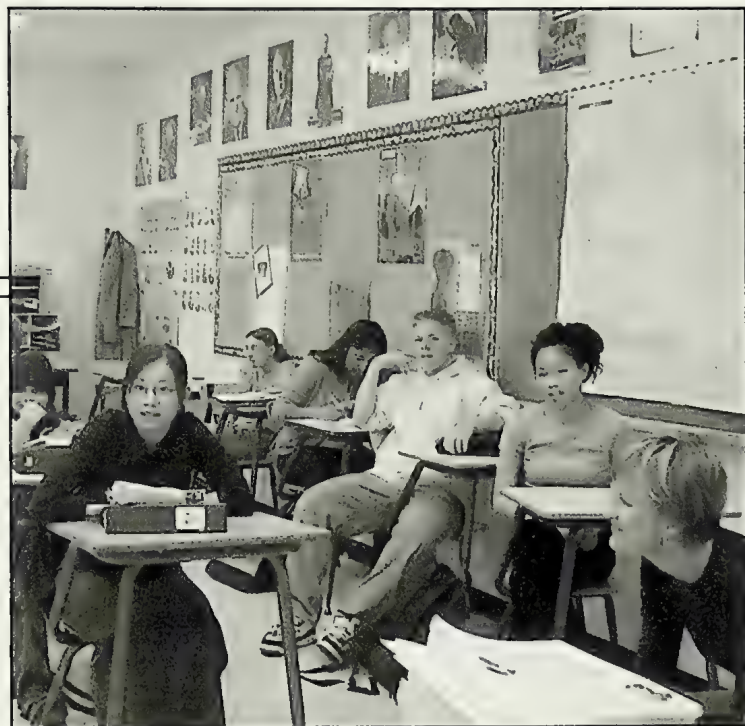

Core Subjects

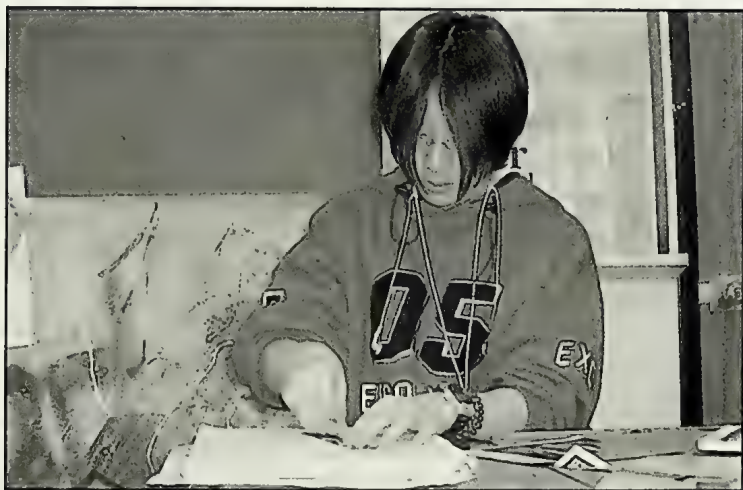

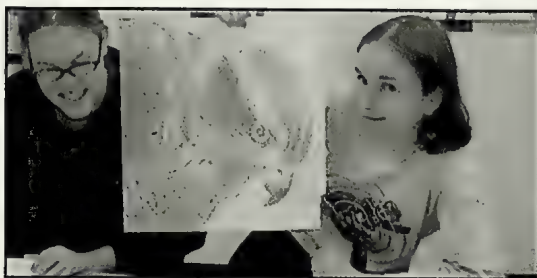

With a wide variety of core subjects, including English, math, science, and social studies, students have many opportunities to develop their skills and interests in all areas. At Ainlay, core subjects give practical experience to students through labs, oral presentations and experiments, making the subjects a fun experience. Teachers are very kind and helpful, and make the courses very interesting.

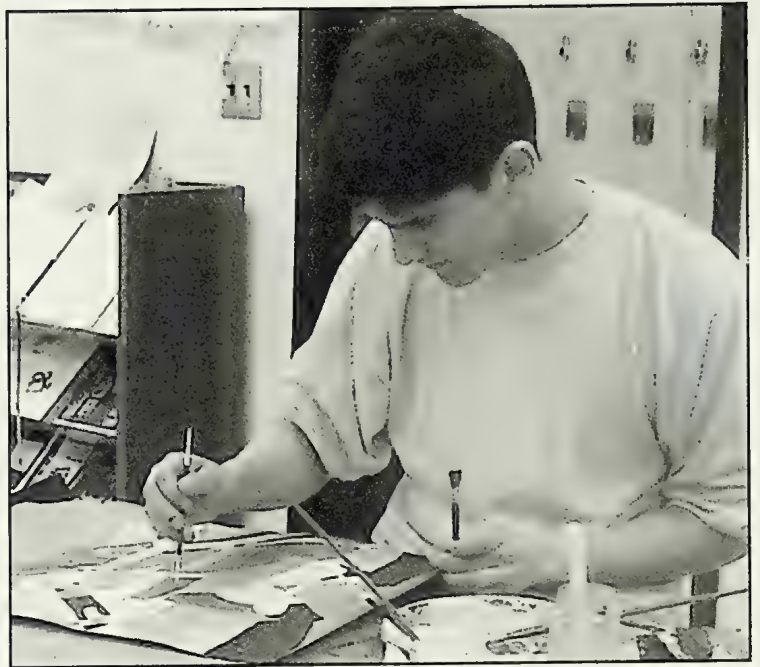

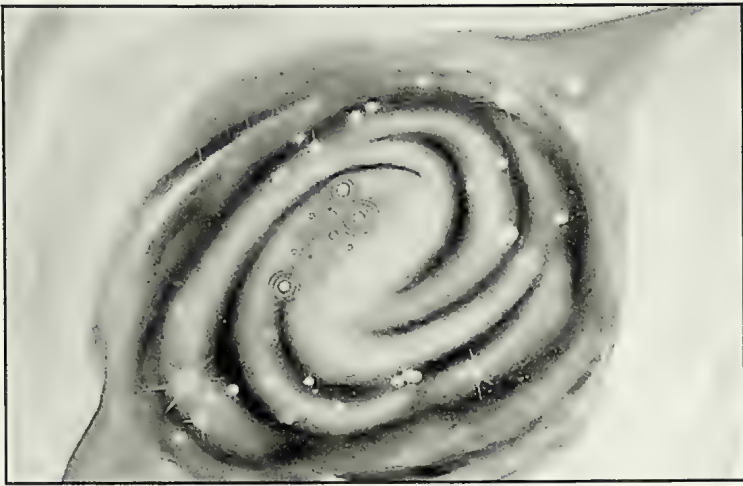

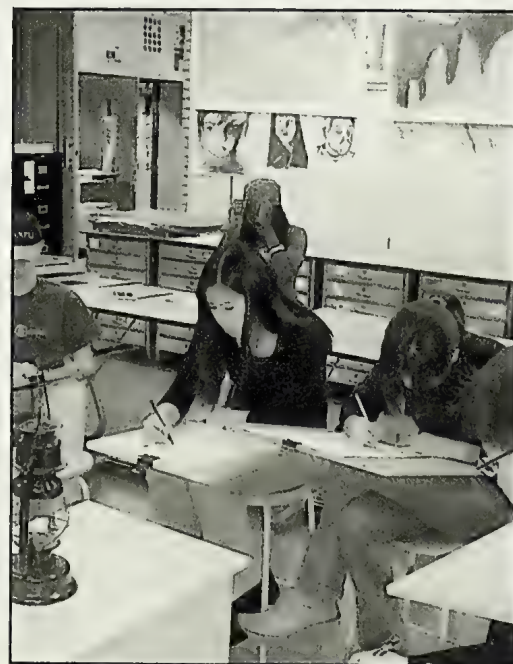

Art Program

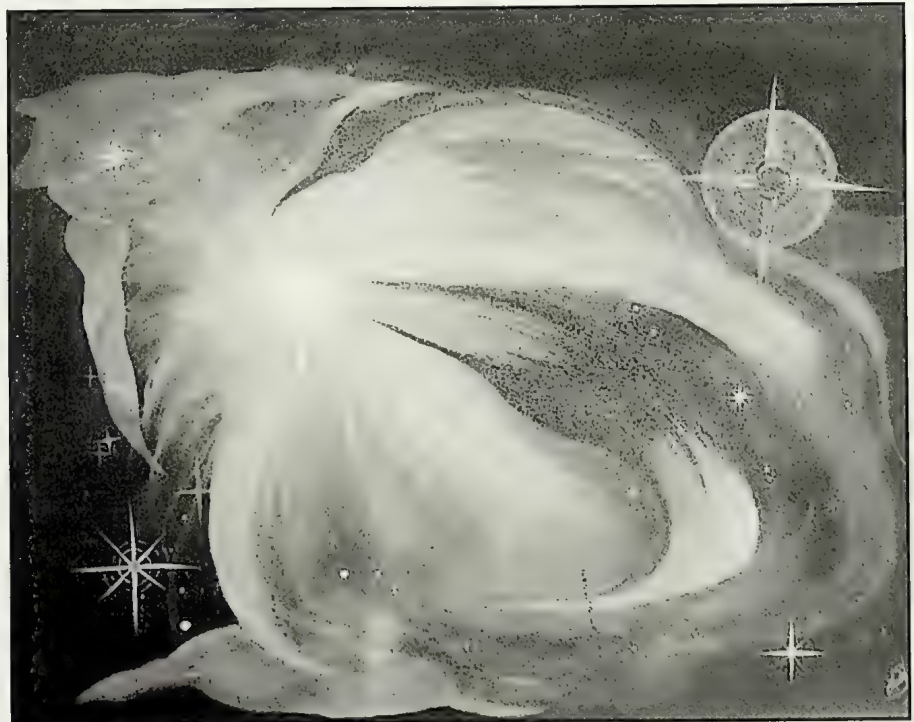

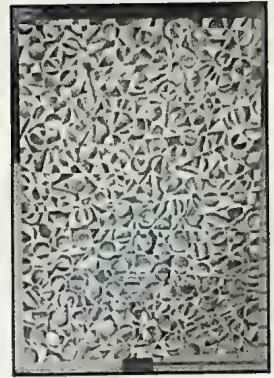

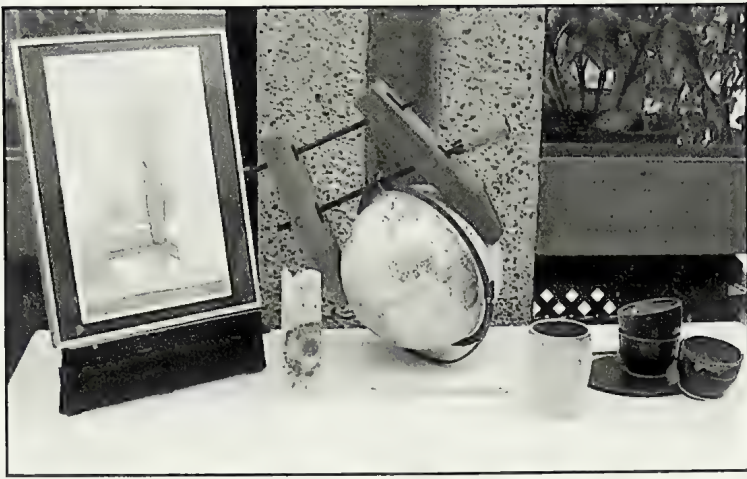

Under the leadership of Mr. Lund and Ms. Joyce, students are provided with many enjoyable challenges in art. Students spend considerable time perfecting skills in drawing, painting and sculpture but also experiment with new and unusual materials, in the hopes of creating fresh approaches to art making. In addition to the regular stream of art classes, students may also take ceramics class, where they learn various hand building and throwing techniques.

Art Program

Music

Musical highlights of the school year began with 140 students enjoying a 3 day camp at Camp Nakamun. Masterclasses, performances, rehearsals and great activities made this a wonderful experience for all involved. Five school concerts were held during the year. Unfortunately, several of the annual festivals were cancelled this year due to the teachers' strike. The Big Band Bash was a great success again this year with close to 300 in attendance for a wonderful evening of dining and dancing. The spring tour was a musical success as over 100 students participated in the Whistler Music Festival. Six days of great weather and high quality musical experiences topped off another great year in the Harry Ainlay Music Department.

Events

While a good deal of high school life is spent in the classroom, it cannot be denied that part of every high school education is the atmosphere. Ainlay's atmosphere is shaped by many different factors, but events play a key role in school life. Throughout the year, many dedicated students and staff work to provide theme days, tournaments, and a sense of excitement that resonates throughout the halls of Harry Ainlay.

“With excitement
in the air,
our school spirit high,
we make the show
a success... and then the crowds cheer.”

Titan Volleyball Tournament

TVT 2001 was another smashing success. The 22nd annual TVT began with the "Clash of the Titans" opening ceremony where a filled gymnasium of fans were entertained with cheerleaders, skits, dance, and song. Sixteen men's and women's teams from across western Canada competed for the prestigious championship trophies. In the end, both Harry Ainlay Sr. teams emerged victorious with the Women defeating North Peace and the Men defeating Vincent Massey. Harry Ainlay all-stars include Anne Fleming, Stephanie Ruste, Dorian Andrews, and Colin Amsbugh. The following week, Ainlay's domination on the volleyball court continued with both junior teams winning gold. The Jr. Women defeated John McInnis while the Jr. Men beat out Revelstoke. All-stars for the tournament were Holly Bredo, Claire McAlpine, Craig Proudfoot, and Aaron Robson. A major milestone was accomplished this year for TVT, with all four Harry Ainlay teams winning their respective tournaments for the first time in its twenty-two year history. Thanks to the coaching staff for their dedication and time. As well, a big thank you goes out to the dedicated executive and steering committees who organized and worked the tournaments.

A Touch of Class

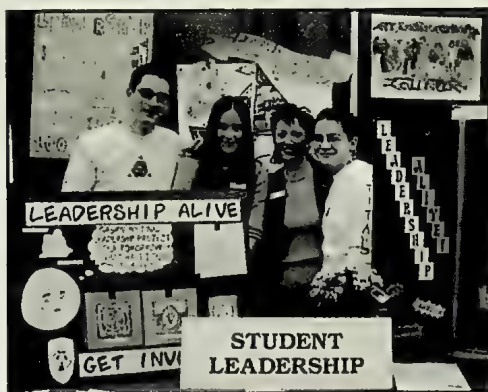

Once again, Touch of Class brought elegance, glamour, and of course, class to Ainlay. Almost everyone wore their finest: dresses, suits, and jewelery sparkled all day long. Derks Formals even donated 50 tuxs to the male staff and S.U. guys so they would look their best. The decoration committe worked hard to turn our school into "A Midwinter Night's Dream" using snow flakes and gold paint all over the school. Volunteers served hors d'oeuvres during the breaks, and every girl was handed a flower as she entered the school. A special room was created in the art gallery where fabulously dressed students enjoyed drinks, food and live entertainment.

Open House

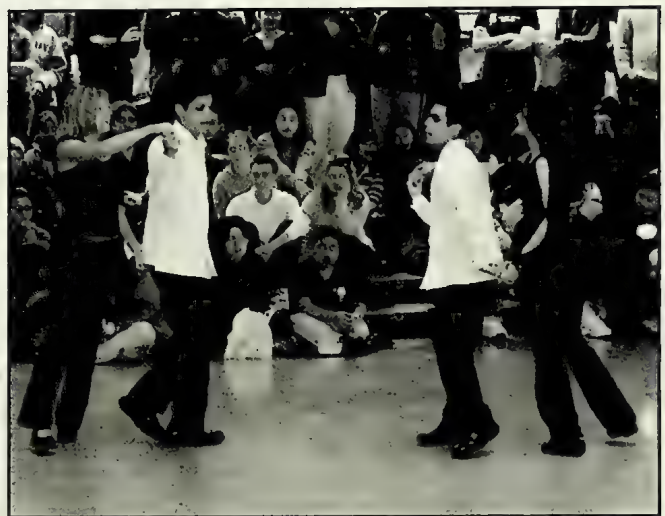

It's always fun when the ninth graders come to visit us Titans. Through displays and demos, we showed them how much fun they will have next year in our multitude of clubs, activities and programs. All the our hard work will surely pay off next year in a new generation of Titans!

Culture Fest

This year, Culture Fest was bigger and better than ever. From March 4-8, students tasted delicious ethnic foods, and watched amazing dancers and performers represent their cultures. Can't wait till next year!

Battle of the Bands

On May 28th, Ainlay rocked to the sounds of Elixer and several other bands. New and seasoned musicians vibrated the ears of enthusiastic fans. It remains to be seen which of these bands become super-stars. Rock on!

Frankfurt Exchange

In March, a group of Ainlay students participated in a 17 day exchange with a group of students from Helmholtzschule, located in Frankfurt, Germany. The group visited Berlin for 3 days and while there were able to see the Reichstag, Sans Soucci Palace, the Ccheckpoint Charlie Museum, Potsdam Castle and stayed in a Youth Hostel.

The majority of the groups time was spent in Frankfurt. There they attended an Italian Opera, visited museums, looked out from the top of the Main-tower building, visited the Rahaus (City Hall), and visited with their Frankfurt hosts. They were surprised by the Pink Public Phones and the numerous VW's, BMW's and Mercedes. Even the buses and dump trucks were Mercedes. The participants reported that the trip was a fun and unforgettable experience.

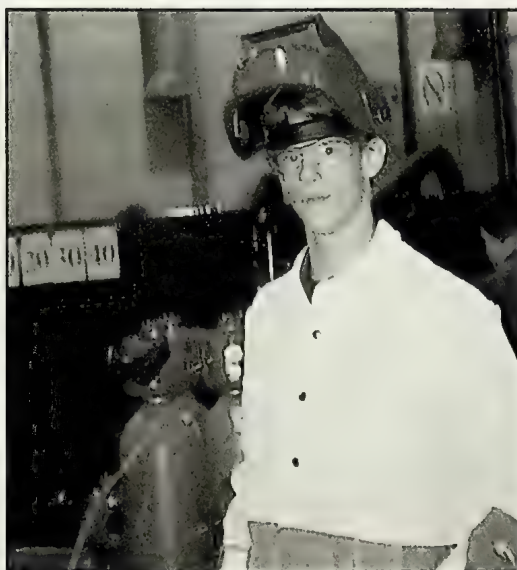

Skills Canada

Skills Canada is an organization that promotes student excellence through nationally organized competitions in a variety of CTS courses. The Provincial Skills Competition took place in Edmonton May 14 -15. Over six hundred students competed from across Alberta. Seven students from Harry Ainlay competed at the provincial level.

Derek Radatzke for Automotives, Ryan Smetaniuk for Welding Michael Weidner for Fashion Design, Deniz Temelli & Lauren Simpson for T.V. Video Production, Shawn Halvorson & Jacob Straszynski for Web Page Design.

Shawn and Jacob won gold and Deniz and Lauren won silver in their Provincial categories.

Grade Twelve

Grade 12s... the royalty of the school. These are the students who have enjoyed three years of the Ainlay experience. As they swagger through the halls, Grade 12s radiate the confidence that makes Ainlay tick. Nothing is too difficult for these ambitious individuals. Using their time at Ainlay as a staging point, they set out to amaze and lead the world into a new era.

"Spending the final year of high school
with people
we've grown to love, creating
lasting memories,

we prepare for the future...
and then we say goodbye."

A Night To Remember...

Graduation

In the fall of 1999, the class of 2002 walked through the doors of Ainlay for the first time. Over the next three years the "Ainlay experience" would forge new relationships, friendships and attitudes. Excelling in academics, arts, and athletics, the class of 2002 revel in their successes at Graduation, boldly embracing the new challenges of life.

Grad Fashion Show

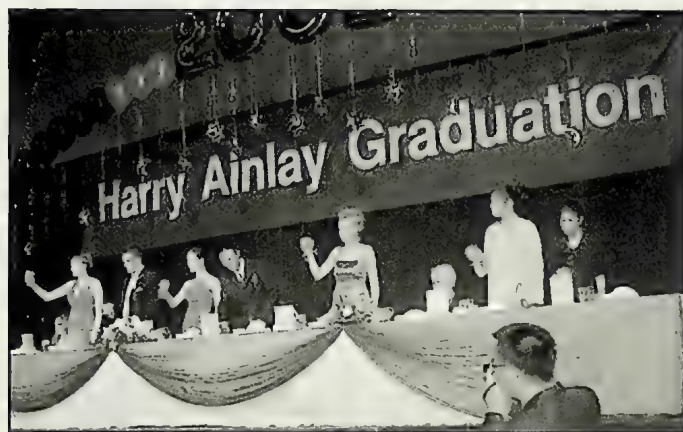

Each and every year, graduation approaches with the same wish, for it to be the most perfect night of year. However both commencement and the banquet require immense amounts of planning, funds and spirit. One of the biggest fundraisers, as well as a "spirit raiser" is the annual Grad Fashion Gala. This past year's show was a great success, raising over $600 and creating huge amounts of excitement and anticipation for grad. The success of the show was primarily due to the hard work of the graduation committee, especially Edna Lau, Joanna Woo and Ingrid Howie, many dedicated teachers and advisors, as well as the many committed volunteers and models, and of course the sponsorship of Southgate and Colour Blind. Together they put on a show bringing the excitement of grad right into Ainlay's rotunda.

Graduation Committee

Throughout the past year, the graduation committee of 2002 has spent innumerable hours working to produce extraordinary graduation celebrations to honour the culmination of 2002 graduating class' academic careers. Thanks to all those on the graduation committee who worked so hard to create these memorable events and to the committee advisors without whom's guidance and support, such events could not have been possible.

President's

Address

Juliana VanderPluym

Although these past three years at Ainlay have been dedicated to preparing us for the future, tonight, as we stand at the threshold of a new journey, we should stop, relax and live in the present for the moment, maybe even a little in the past. Think about what brought you here, the people who helped you, the events you've experienced, and the wonderful things you've accomplished.

Although we have reached this point in our lives largely because of our own hard work, it was our families, friends, teachers and mentors who acted as the winds supporting our sails when we simply weren't moving in the right direction, if at all. And, although we may not always show it, we are thankful for that. Thank you, parents, for always supporting and nurturing us. Thank you, friends, for offering a good laugh and an open ear. Thank you, teachers and mentors, for giving us knowledge and more importantly offering your friendship.

Although I am not one to quote country, Garth Brooks was right when he said in his song The River to "chance the rapids, dance the tide." Take risks and work hard because not everything in life is easy; enjoy and cherish every moment, never give up, for when the waters do get shaky, remember the tide will always turn. There is no doubt in my mind that each and every one of you has the potential to accomplish anything you set your minds to. Senior class of 2002, congratulations. I wish you all the best for the future and more important, the present.

Good evening ladies and gentlemen, honored guests, families and members of the senior class. It is my privilege to bring congratulations to the class of 2002 from the Staff of Harry Ainlay High School. During your three years in high school your lives have been intricately intertwined with those of your families, your friends, your classmates and your teachers. As members of the Titan team you have been challenged to maintain a high standard of excellence and you have successfully met this challenge with passion and energy. Your achievements exemplify the school motto "in omnibus excelsior" - in all things excellence. In academics, in athletics, in CTS and in the Arts you have shown yourself to be first class. Your involvement in the school and the community show your commitment to being responsible and caring citizens. The positive learning and working environment at Harry Ainlay is a tribute to your respect for the rights of each individual. You have demonstrated genuine appreciation for the unique contributions of all members of the Titan team.

Your grade 12 year has had more than its share of unusual events and challenges and you have responded with dignity and resilience. Together we have shared shock, happiness, success, disappointment and hope. Now you begin a journey that in many cases will take you out on your own. Times of change and transition often leave one nervous and uncertain but we know the lessons and values you have learned over the last twelve years will help you to make wise choices and will give you the courage to explore new ideas.

Principal's Message

Mrs. C. McCabe

As you venture into new endeavors you will gain a deeper appreciation of the meaning of the words in your theme song "A dream is like a river, Ever changing as it flows". You have set many goals for yourselves already and some you have achieved. Others may be set aside in favor of emerging needs or unexpected opportunities. Over time your dreams will change and with each new direction you will find new friends and new challenges. As Garth Brooks predicts in his lyrics, "There's bound to be rough waters, And I know I'll take some falls."

Some of you have already experienced difficult times and high school has not passed without periods of stress and tension—but you have overcome these obstacles and we are here today to celebrate your success. In the future, when you are paddling through rough waters, you will depend on the character traits you have developed and your past experiences to assist you - in climbing up from the falls, in straightening your path and in allowing you once again to "chance the rapids".

Thank you so much for sharing a very special part of your life with us. Our lives have been enriched by our time together. Cherish your memories of high school. Good luck and keep in touch.

Guest Speaker

Mr. R. Bonneville

Merci Mlle la présidente Juliana. Bonsoir Mesdames et Messieurs. Thank you President Juliana. Mr. Nicholson, special guests, parents and friends of Graduands, members of Harry Ainlay's graduating class of 2002. Being the third speaker is a bit of a disadvantage as some of what I'll say has already been said, but here goes.

I was extremely surprised and very touched when I received a letter on February 4 inviting me to be guest speaker at your graduation. I quickly sat down and wrote a reply before the task at hand scared me into refusing. I am greatly honoured to have been chosen by your committee to speak to all 601 of you.

What a year!! The events of September made us appreciate life and its beauty as well as made us aware of its much darker side. Could Steven King have imagined such a disaster and who is to blame? It is not hard to imagine how we Westerners are not loved by the downtrodden. Mass media has made it possible for almost everyone to see how we live. Did you know that in the Western world we spend enough money on our pets and on our beauty products that if that money were pooled, we could educate and feed every child in the world that is hungry and does not go to school?? The teachers' strike and its aftermath might have made you appreciate what some people do that is really not part of their job. I've had occasion to listen to parts of talkback shows, and a lot of people out there and maybe in here believe that the way to solve problems is to crush them..... Finally the Olympics—as Canadians we came away proud of our athletes and their dedication. At the same time, a noble event still revealed its share of cheating participants, dishonest judges, and corrupt officials. What can we do to solve some of these problems—what can you do? The answer is simple, but its execution is difficult. You must "Choose to chance the rapids and dare to dance the tides. There's bound to be rougher water and I know you'll take some falls...but you can make it through them all." Garth Brooks!! Who would have thought that your grad theme would come from a song by a country artist.

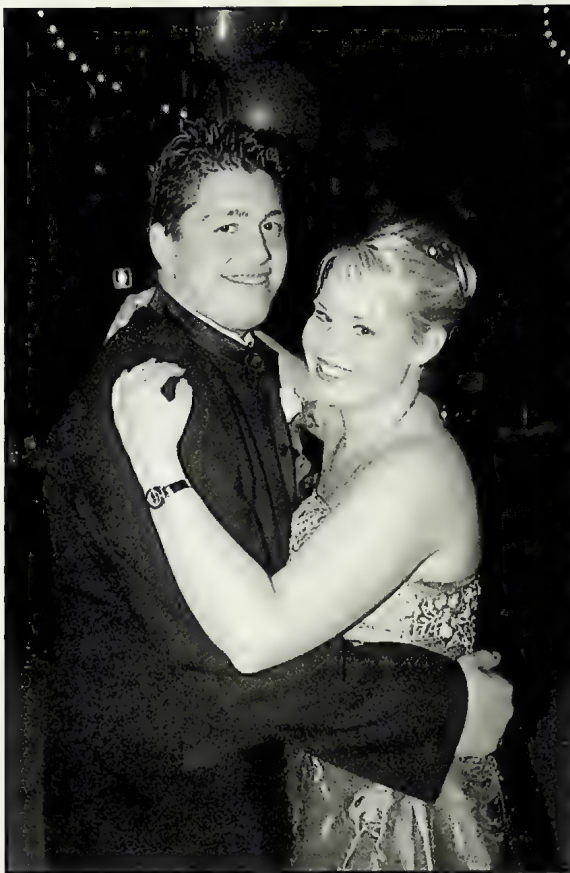

My generation held protests, threw bricks, wrecked cars and buildings to try to get someone to change an unjust society. Then we shaved our beards, cut our hair, locked away our beads, sold our Volkswagen campers, and settled into a comfortable life. WE forgot that the someone who could make a difference was us....was ME. We also forgot to really change ourselves before we could change the world—a physical change was not nearly enough. Leo Tolstoy said it best:

"Everyone thinks of changing the world, but no one thinks of changing himself." So we carried on and polluted our rivers, our air, our land in order to make us comfortable, in order to make you comfortable. We really did believe that you would be happier if you wore Tommy Hilfiger jeans, GAP jackets, $200 Nike shoes, and drove expensive cars. We forgot that young people need love, attention, hugs, love, discipline, rules, regulations, love, their parents' time, their communities' time. It's simply because we adults become stupid and extremely forgetful of what makes kids happy. We need to be reminded by you, the young people. Antoine de Saint-Exupéry's Little Prince (Le Petit Prince) said, and please excuse the translation from French: "Grown-ups never understand anything for themselves, and it is tiresome for children to be always and forever explaining things to them." Please keep on explaining to us.

So what does all that have to do with anything??— Well, you now have a challenge in front of you. You have to do much better than we did and that shouldn't be hard as we were very stupid. I'm sure that you also have a dream for a better future, but your dream won't happen unless you as individuals make it happen—one dream at a time and as individuals who get things going. I challenge you, the class of 2002, to go out there and do something to help others and to help yourselves. You're not happy with pollution, quit driving—take a bus, walk, ride a bike, put your garbage where it belongs—change yourselves and the way you act now. You're unhappy with healthcare? Take better care of yourselves—eat well, quit smoking, drink moderately....that includes tonight and Saturday night, exercise...walk to school tomorrow or ride your bike—Change yourselves. You're unhappy with your teachers? Try arriving on time, doing your homework, studying for exams, participating. You'll see how quickly they'll start liking you. You're unhappy with the way you were raised?? Don't make the same mistakes when you have children—give them more love, but also more of your time and some discipline. I challenge you to become the honest citizens of tomorrow—If you decide to run a business, be honest to your customers—if you become a professional sports player (notice that you PLAY a sport, you don't WORK a sport) do you really think that you will be worth $1 000 000 a year let alone $25,000,000 U.S.? Be honest and accept what is reasonable. If you become a politician, work for your constituents and your country, and not just to be re-elected. If you make promises...keep them. If you become a teacher...ignore all the above because you are basically perfect already. Mostly, " Don't stand aside and let the water slip away, to what we put off till tomorrow, has now become today. So don't you sit on the shoreline and say you're satisfied. Choose TO CHANCE THE RAPIDS AND DARE TO DANCE THE TIDES. Get involved, take a different path, but start by changing yourselves.

Are you up to the challenges that await you or are you just going to do as many of us have done....sit back, bitch at the world (I think we can use that word now) and wonder when THEY will do something about whatever?? THEY is US, THEY is YOU. My generation has let its dreams be changed by greed, money, selfishness, dishonesty, hate, and worst of all hopelessness that an individual can't make a difference. WE were wrong, and you can change what we did by "trying to learn from what's behind you... You'll never reach your destination if you never try, so you must sail your vessel till the river runs dry".

As Yogi Berra, a former Yankee baseball player said: " The future ain't what it used to be". It never was and thank God!! YOU, the young adults of Harry Ainlay's 2002 graduating class can choose "to chance the rapids and to dance the tide. There's bound to be rougher water...but I know you can make it through them all." GOOD LUCK and may your journey be pleasant. May all our dreams for a better world become your reality. THANK YOU!

Motivational Owen Ripley Blessing

Good evening Ainlay! It is with great honour and privilege that I stand before you tonight to give the motivational blessing on behalf of the Class of 2002! The motivational blessing is meant to express gratitude to those individuals who have, as Edna Millay stated, kept us "safe upon solid rock." Whether these individuals are teachers, friends, or family, they have been the supportive backbone to our lives. As we step out into the great wide world to climb our Mt. Everest, it is important to remember our roots, and those who helped forge us. Tonight we pay tribute to these extraordinary individuals:

Teachers... where would we be without you? These are the individuals who had the immense task of "educating the unruly masses," as Mr. Gardiner would like to say. Yet, we will not remember teachers so much for their knowledge in mathematics, sciences, or languages, but rather for the imprint that they have made on our lives. Anonymously it has been said that "education is what you have left after we have forgotten everything we learned." As we boldly step into the future, Maslow's Hierarchy will seem less and less important compared to the brave English teacher that told us the story of her peeing in the lobby of an embassy in Ottawa... Teachers have been an endless source of wisdom, encouragement, wit, and understanding. They have shaped our approach to life, so that we may one day succeed. Teachers, to you, we owe our future livelihood, and we thank you.

Friends...the people who are there for better and for worse. Some have been with us since Elementary or Jr. High, while others have been created over our three-year period at Ainlay. No matter where we go, or who we become, it is these individuals who have shaped our character. Together we have shared laughter, sorrow, happiness, and anger. These are the people that we remember for memories such as traveling through France, playing soccer in airports, or maybe even laughing when one of you accidentally tried to steal a lady's purse in the Louvre. Friendships may often be tumultuous, but in the end we are made ever stronger because of their integrity. Shakespeare once said that the "friends thou hast and their adoption tried, grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel." True friends will always be there for us down the road, even if we are on different continents; they will be there to pick us up, flash us a smile, give us a pat on our back and put us on our way. Never underestimate them, because they will always amaze us. Friends, to you, we owe our future joy, and we thank you.

Family...whether it is Mom, Dad, a guardian, siblings or grandparents, some or all have been there, quite literally, since conception. On the most basic level, they have provided the bare necessities of life, from pabulum, to pizza, to burnt toast, yet through the years, they have provided so much more. These individuals have helped to shape every little mannerism, every little thing we do: our manners, the way we walk, talk, and interact. When everything else in the world fails and it seems like our life is crumbling, and when it even seems as if our friends have deserted us, our family will always stand by us. We so often take our family members for granted, yet where would we be without mothers yelling at the top of their lungs across the soccer field, or embarrassing us at every possible moment? Family accepts us as we are, blemishes and all, and that in itself is what family stands for: unending, and all encompassing love. Family, to you, we owe our future in its entirety, and we thank you.

In the end, life can be defined quite simply as memories. We will have both good and bad memories. To our teachers, friends, and family, who have shaped our attitudes, personalities, and in the end our memories, you will be a living memory for us, and shall never be forgotten. Thank you.

Welcome fellow Titans, parents, teachers, and honoured guests. Tonight, we all celebrate the time we have spent at Ainlay, and more importantly the experiences we have had during this time.

A valedictory address is a farewell – a farewell to the past, in anticipation of new beginnings. So, as we bid farewell to Harry Ainlay, we should all remember what it has meant to us. For me, as for many of you, it became more than just a school, it became a community, a shelter, and a home. I strengthened old friendships while meeting new people. I only regret not getting to know you all, since I know every one of you has something great to offer. I learned so much about the person that I am and that I can be. I finally realised the joy of involvement and service. Most of all, I had a great time experiencing it with all of you. Harry Ainlay has become a very important part of our lives, and so it hurts somewhat to leave it behind.

Our years at Ainlay were far from idyllic and were filled with hardship, as any really valuable time must be. We experienced tragic loss of life as on September 11th, and we suffered disruptions to our scholarly routines such as the teachers' strike. We learned many lessons about ourselves and about the world around us. Even though life was sometimes challenging, Titans never gave up, instead supporting each other through difficult times and proving over and over again that "In Omnibus Excelsior" is not just a motto but a mission.

As we head into a future bright with possibilities, we must keep in mind the values we learned at Ainlay. These are, of course, respect, responsibility, honesty, forgiveness, fairness, and integrity. The world we are heading into presents new challenges to all, with the evolution of science and technology, as well as the changing face of the arts. The world's current political climate offers unique problems that must be solved by future leaders. Using the skills that we have acquired at Ainlay will allow Titans to truly make a difference, and the important moral lessons we have learned will guide us in improving the quality of life in the world.

Certainly, we must not forget to thank those who have helped us reach this important point in our lives. Our families, for their undying love and support; our friends, for never leaving our sides; and our teachers, for having the knowledge and patience to help us all become who we are today. Without the help of others, we would never have been able to meet the various challenges of high school life. On behalf of the graduating class, I thank you all for being there whenever we needed you. As we continue on past high school and eventually enter adult life, your influence will always be with us, and your important guidance will help determine our future paths.

Our graduation theme this year is "Chance the Rapids, Dance the Tide." I take that to mean that if we take a risk – Chance the Rapids – we can gain great rewards – Dance the Tide. Never forget this lesson; we must never be afraid to take risks, and we must be prepared to enjoy the rewards. But there is more to life than this. Know that you have the power to control your destiny and change your fate, the ability to choose your path. Fellow graduands, as you leave Harry Ainlay I wish to leave you with this final thought: remember always that by chancing the rapids you gain the power not only to dance the tide, but to change it.

Grade 10

(Intro Video- Mike, Rahul and Shawn get an email: "To Stop Diplomas in 5 Hours". They end up at the Jubilee a bit after 5 hours, and because they are late, they are forced to be class historians by some Mystery guy.)

(Ad-libbing....Who is that?....Why was he laughing so hard?....I'm so nervous...)

S: Ok, ok. Here we go...I guess tonight is a pretty special night because we graduate with our good friend, Lem Smith (show vid of Lem). We thought he would never make it cuz....well, look at the guy.

R: Some of you might not know Lem, but he was a 3-year foreign exchange student from...ya, his exchange program parents don't even know where he's from.

M: Anyways, we decided to videotape his years at Ainlay.

S: And, the first week of school was rough for the guy. He was froshed, but not just by any ordinary people. He was froshed by the "IB's."

(Show videotape of Lem getting a wedgie in the lab room)

M: And, as Lem tried to find his right classes, he noticed that Ainlay produces the weirdest people, and we're not even talking about me.

(Agrell saying- "FOR THE LAST TIME, I'M NOT SANTA CLAUS"...slamming the door, Booi saying- "FOR THE LAST TIME, I'M NOT FROM THE BEATLES"...slamming the door, Mr. Visser saying BAM repeatedly, Cafeteria guy saying- "Ham & Cheese, Ham & Cheese", Student Interviews Wasabi, Break Dancing in the Rotunda, Trevor Kent scaring people)

M: A lot of us used the library to study for those afternoon tests.

S: Guys, guys, please. Let's not do the library scene.

R: What? Why?

S: Well you know Lem and even a lot of us didn't really adapt to the library rules really well. And students have been having these horrible recurring dreams about their first time in the library.

M: Cmon', let's just show it

(Shawn protests)

(Show video of Lem with SCARY MUSIC going into the library, and seeing some friends.

The Librarian runs over and yells: FOUR TO A TABLE, FOUR TO A TABLE.

Lem: I was...I was...just...asking my friend for help

Librarian: I DON'T CARE, ITS FOUR TO A TABLE

Lem: I'm sorry (Lem goes to the computers)

Librarian yells: YOU HAVE TO SIGN IN

Lem: I didn't know, I didn't know

(Lem goes out with his bag and the Signal goes off)

Lem: I DIDN'T WANT TO STEAL THE BOOKS (crying)

R: That's harsh

M: Ya, you know what was even worse, watching Lem try out for the sports teams. (Show video of Lem getting hit in the head with a football, basketball and soccer ball)

R: Didn't he join any clubs though?

M: Yaaaa sorta, but the origami club said he was too uncoordinated to fold paper (Show pic of him unable to fold paper)

R: Ya, that's too bad.

M: Ya, it's a shame. Anyways, you guys remember Mr. Smith?

S: Ya, there were all these rumours going around, like that he retired, and then... we got this pic that was spreading over the net (Show pic of Mr. Smith with crazy look) and I dunno bout you, but he looks kinda possessed.

R: And, some people said they saw him living in the ghetto selling his own clothes

M: But, we found the truth a couple of months ago. Please, if you had lots of respect for Mr. Smith before, we suggest that you don't watch this next clip.

(Show video of Mr. Smith selling Ainlay wear for food)

S: Anyways, back to Lem, the guy was really scared about this Y2K bug thing. The experts said the world's economy would crash when the clock hit 12 to bring in the year 2000.

(Show video of Lem crouching in a confined area, surrounded by cans and macaroni boxes. There's a clock in front of him. He waits in fear until it hits 12. It hits 12. And nothing happens.)

Grade 11

R: Lem started off grade 11 with a big bang when he got his drivers license, and his exchange program mom gave him her old minivan.

M: Strangely enough, our young friend became very popular with the "ride-mooching" crowd, especially the ladies, but he didn't mind the attention.

(show video of Lem with a bunch of screaming girls and his van)

S: Things got even better for Lem when TVT rolled on in.

R: Yeah!! He discovered the true beauty of spandex... on girls.

M: I think all of us did.

S: Unfortunately, this was too much for him, and he ended up getting busted for skipping class to see the action, by the almighty...all knowing...

R&M: Automated Voice Messaging System

R: He paid the price too...

M: I heard he lost the use of his exchange mom's minivan.

S: Ouch!!

R: Well, like most grade 11's, Lem coasted his way to early December and the arrival of touch of class.

M: He couldn't wait to dazzle the ladies with his spiffy duds and smooth moves at the dance.

S: Too bad he overdosed on tainted hors d'oeuvres and felt too sick to factor in on the sweet cafeteria dance floor. (show pictures of Lem stuffing his face, and then feeling very sick)

R: Yeah he didn't look too good at all.

M: After a festive Christmas break, Lem was ready to make his mark on Ainlay.

R: He wanted to do well on his exams so he got in with the ever studious IB's.

S: I don't know of that was a good thing or a bad thing...

M: Well he sure did well on his exams... but he also picked up a few ugly habits.

S: Like What??

R: Like the ever dangerous walking and reading at the same time. (Show Lem trying to walk and read at the same time, and then running into a group of people)

S: Yikes!!

S: In early February the Titans rained triumphant at the Triprov basketball tournament.

R: I heard that Lem almost made the basketball team.

M: Yeah, me too, but I don't think Mr. Riar liked his attitude too much.

(show video of Mr. Riar yelling at Lem)

M: The next few months rolled by without much really happening.

R: Except for that blazing fire that charred our precious laundry room.

S: Hey shut up, that morning was sweet, I got to go to Louie St. Laurent.

R: Well aren't you special?

S: I am!! (mean look on face)

M: Anyways, spring arrived, and with its arrival, Lem decided to pick up skateboarding.

S: What a mistake that was!!

R: I never thought that I'd see someone get nailed as hard as he did.

(show video of Lem getting hit while skateboarding)

S: Lem later quit skateboarding because his exchanged parents feared for his life.

R: As the end of the year neared, Lem put off studying to enjoy the beautiful weather.

(show video of Lem riding his bikes and scooter)

S: His exams really told the story of his procrastination, I can't believe he almost failed all of his exams... stupid guy (said quietly)

R: As a punishment for doing so bad on his exams, his parents forced him to get a laborious summer job and no one heard from him until grade 12.

Grade 12

M: Lem walked into the doors of our school at the beginning of this year, not knowing what to expect, but first before he could do anything else, he had to regain his eyesight. Since this school has no windows, it was hard for him to adjust his eyes from the brightness of the outside world, to the darkness within Ainlay's doors.

(show video of Lem opening his eyes to extreme darkness being harassed by teacher then his ID is taken away)

M: Hey guys, guess what?

R&S: What?

M: TVT this year was crazy, we won all 4 titles (JB, JG, SB, SG). And our dear Lem loved it.

R: Does everyone remember the teacher strike?? Well, we're happy to see the teachers back in school, although we did enjoy the extra holidays!!

S: The teacher strike forced us to have 3 extra weeks of free time. Some of us felt guilty not doing homework during the day, but the beauty was that it gave us the opportunity to learn about the... more important things of our lives.

R: I learned that picking up girls on ICQ and MSN is not a good idea. (Show pic of Rahul on comp with a pic of an ugly girl)

S: Oh ya, also the Winter Olympics weren't that bad. After a watching an Elton John special, curling turns into the most exciting sport that you'll ever see.

M: Ya, I learned that after watching "The View" 5 times a week, they become better looking everyday. (Show pic of the ladies from the "The View".) And after watching Maury Povich, I... well...

R: Well what??

M: Well I kinda like the look of some of those girls in boot camp.

M: We also asked a couple Ainlay students about their break.

(show video of people being interviewed about the teacher strike)

R: I am sure we all remember those wicked Nike freestyle basketball commercials.

(show small clip of one commercial)

Well, let me show you something (rahul does a move with a basketball, it looks awkward). Lem seemed to take a liking to these commercials, and he came up with some moves himself.

(show video of Lem doing freestyle basketball moves, he has no idea what he is doing)

M: That's just gross

S: Hey you know it's kinda weird that in three years, we've had 3 different principals, which means we are like three for three. And you know, we all wish for Mrs. McCabe to stay at Ainlay, but in case our school is going for some sorta record, like four for four, then we have prepared a list of potential candidates to be principal next year.

(show pictures of potential candidates:

Britney Spears- we think she's a good motivator.

Next, Al Gore. Rahul: Guys, can we go back. Spears picture appears again. Rahul: Ok, I'm done. Pic of Al Gore with disgusting beard. Pic of Dorian Andrews- he's big. Pic of Mr. Gardner- seems like he has middle finger up)

M: But we actually found the real reason for the principals leaving. Someone out here (Mike points around the audience) has been constantly prank calling the principal's office.

(show video of Kerpel prank calling McCabe)

(Pause couple seconds)

R: What else happened these last 3 years?

M: I dunno, I guess that's about it

S: Ya, so Congratulations to All the Gra.....(Show Vid.

Interrupted by Mystery Guy who tells them that the script will self-destruct in 7.53 seconds. Shawn wakes up; he thinks it is only a dream. He wakes up Rahul, Mike and some unknown stranger who are sleeping in the same bed. Lem comes out of nowhere and asks if they want Eggs. The four guys in the bed screaming.)

Graduation Commencement

On the magical evening of May 23 graduands, guests and staff assembled in the Jubilee Auditorium to honour and congratulate the Senior Class of 2002 and Grade 12 award winners. The evening began with a unique presentation of the school flag followed by a poetic delivery by Trevor Urchyshyn. The welcome speech was given by our MC and Grad President, Julianna VanderPluym. An emotional performance of "I Hope You Dance" given by one of our fellow graduands Aidan Ferguson was followed by brief speeches from the platform party. Mr. Bonneville our Guest Speaker gave an uplifting and inspirational speech directed to the graduands.

Our class historians used "Mission Impossible" to combine our memories and times here at Ainlay. The evening closed with our theme song "The River" written by Garth Brooks and was sung by Drew Doerksen and Natercia Napoleao which was given a standing ovation by the senior class. The evening was a success and a dream come true for all of the class of 2002.

Graduation Banquet

For most of the graduands, preparations for this year's Banquet started about 10:00 am. From picking up tuxes, to getting their hair done, the graduating class was pretty pre-occupied on May 25, 2002. But, when it was time to leave for the Shaw Conference Centre, the grads looked spectacular! At the Banquet, Daphne Kwan and her elegant mother, Mrs. E. Kwan reminded us of how amazing and supportive our parents have been. Mrs. Kwan reminded us that the parents of Harry Ainlay are proud of their son's/daughter's accomplishments in her reply. Both gave a wonderful toasts. Taylor Harrison, the Students' Union President, toasted the many staff members of Harry Ainlay, thanking them for their commitment, support, and dedication to our success. Mrs. McCabe was asked to respond to this beautiful toast. She further encouraged us to "Chance the Rapids...Dance the Tide" and continued to give us advice. She told us to never forget our school's motto: "Inomnibus Excelsior" -- in all things excellence. Lastly before dinner, Sushmitha Gollapudi had centre stage while giving a most appropriate blessing. During dessert, Janette Purnell and Lindsey Williams sang "I Will Go the Distance" beautifully.

The evening slowly began to come to an end with the presentation of a special gift given by Amanda Chen for Mrs. Kwan, thanking her for all her work and commitment to Harry Ainlay. Next the presentation of the class gift --$500.00 to the Stollery Children's Hospital Foundation and $500.00 to "Meals on Wheels." Juliana, the MC for the night ended the program with thanks, inspiring thoughts, and reminding all guests not to drink and drive. A dance was the big finale -- both parents and students enjoyed this. Thank you to Ms. Baker and Ms. Stevens for all your dedication and support! Thanks to the performers, toasters and to everyone who contribute to such a successful banquet.

--Sarah Tappenden, Banquet Chairperson

Awards

From academics, to arts, to leadership and athletics, Titans have excelled in everything. When one walks into the Jubilee Auditorium on Awards Night, there can be no doubt left that Ainlay possesses the most talented group of young individuals. Destined to be great, their smiles radiate their enthusiasm and success.

"Born for success [they] seemed, With grace to win, with heart to hold, With shining gifts that took all eyes."

The awards board put on two dynamic award ceremonies this year to honour the scholastic excellence of Ainlay's students. On May 23rd, for the first time ever, the grade 12 commencement and the grade 12 awards were combined into one spectacular evening at the Jubilee Auditorium.

A second awards presentation ceremony for grade 10 and 11 students (and specialized Gr.12 awards) was held on the afternoon of June 6th in the large gym.

Awards board members volunteered 100's of hours to make these ceremonies a special time for us to honour and acknowledge the outstanding achievements of so many accomplished Harry Ainlay students.

...And Then Titans Remember

September

09.06.01 Staff and students at Ainlay were welcomed back for the beginning of the new school year with the Welcome Back Pep Rally & BBQ.

09.11.01 At 8:45 a.m. a hijacked passenger jet, American Airlines Flight 11, crashed into the north tower of the World Trade Center, tearing a gaping hole in the building and setting it afire. Fifteen minutes later, a second hijacked plane crashed into the south tower.

09.13.01 Harry Ainlay students signed books of condolences for New York City and raised over $1400 for the Twin Tower Orphan fund.

October

10.20.01 Ainlay's 22nd annual Titan Volleyball Tournament celebrated a glorious victory with all four Titan Volleyball teams taking home the championship for the first time ever.

10.21.01 Ainlay Ambassadors were successful in raising over $5000 for the Canadian Red Cross following the events of September 11th with their 911 Run for America.

November

11.16.01 Harry Potter opened nationwide in theatres, grossing $90,294,621 in its opening weekend.

December

12.06.01 Ainlay held its annual Touch of Class event with formal wear, hors d'oeuvres, entertainment, and an evening dance.

January

01.10.02 Ainlay warmed up inside despite the cold January climate with the annual Aloha Ainlay. Students came decked out in their tropical gear and were treated to Hawaiian activities and a Tiki bar.

April

04.18.02 While conducting a live-fire training exercise, four Canadian soldiers were killed and eight others wounded by a friendly fire accident nine miles south of Kandahar, Afghanistan.

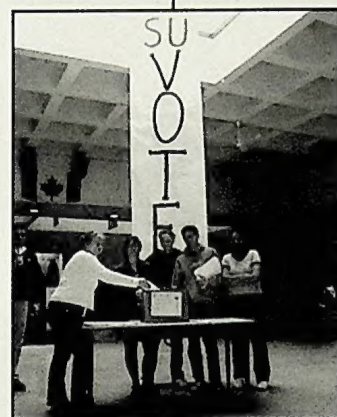

May

05.02.02 The annual Students' Union elections were held.

Israeli and Palestinian relations remained tense as there were continuous suicide bombings and other acts of violence, which occurred through June.

June

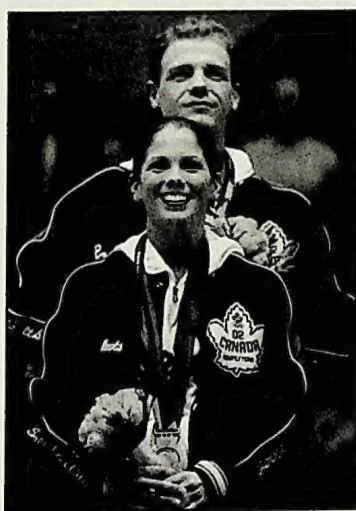

Korea and Japan hosted the 2002 FIFA World Cup

March

03.22.02 After 18 months of bitter internal feuding, Stephen Harper was elected the new leader of the Canadian Alliance party, defeating Stockwell Day.

03.31.02 The Queen Mother died peacefully in her sleep at the age of 101 at Royal Lodge, Windsor in Britain.

February

02.06.02 Queen Elizabeth II's Royal Jubilee (50th anniversary) of her accession to the throne was marked by the opening of a new cancer unit at a hospital near Sandringham, England.

02.18.02 After a controversial decision, Jamie Sale and David Pelletier were awarded their Olympic gold medals, sharing the top spot with Russians, Elena Berezhnaya and Anton Sikharulidze.

02.22.02 The Canadian Women's Olympic hockey team defeated the United States 3-2 in Salt Lake City, winning the gold medal. Two days later, the Canadian men's Olympic team defeated the United States to win their first Olympic Men's ice hockey gold medal in 50 years.

02.25.02 Teachers and students returned to schools after a three-week labour dispute and strike, delaying the start of the second semester.

Final Thoughts

Advisor's Note

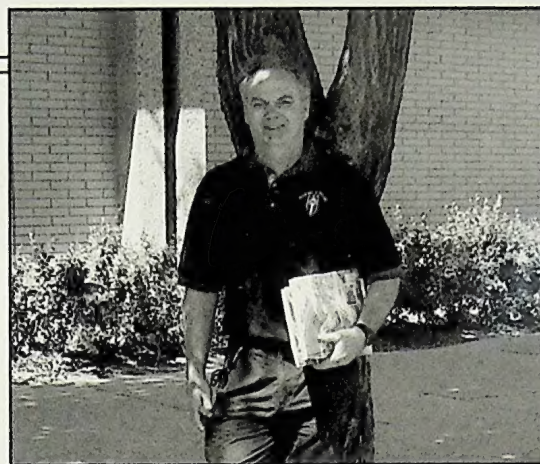

This was my first year teaching at Ainlay as the Com Tech teacher as well as the yearbook advisor. The learning curve has been fast, furious and full speed ahead all year long. I discovered over these last ten months that Ainlay is the place to be. Being the yearbook advisor allowed me the opportunity to meet students, staff and the many talented players and performers.

I was fortunate to have two exceptionally talented yearbook editors. Together we spent many long hours organizing, designing and coordinating all aspects of the yearbook. I was impressed with their fresh design ideas, their ability to solve problems and their capacity to balance the demands of a full IB program with the demands of producing a 208 page yearbook.

A big thank you to the section editors who assumed leadership for various portions of the book. Their commitment and dedication throughout the year ensured that quality pages were produced on schedule. Countless other students completed numerous jobs that accounted for thousands of hours of volunteer time. Thanks to the staff members who made contributions to the yearbook – many hands make for light work.

It has been a wonderful year to remember for all of us. As we finish this last page, the sun is shining and the wind is blowing and I am going sailing. Bon Voyage – to all.

Mr. K. Wright

Editors' Note

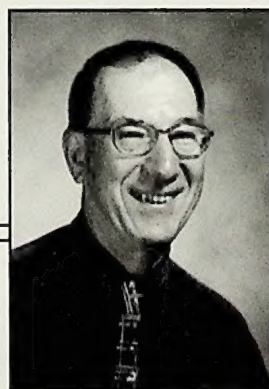

As the 2001-2002 school year draws to a close, yet another yearbook is polished up and published. With the help of a wonderful yearbook staff, we have had the opportunity to be a part of this year's contribution to Harry Ainlay's history. It was quite an interesting year with many unexpected events that proved to be obstacles in the completion of this yearbook. But, with the guidance of our advisor, Mr. Wright, we were able to overcome these challenges. With countless late nights spent in the yearbook room, we finally completed our year-long project as we type these few words on this last page of our book. We have had an experience that will never be forgotten, living on forever in the 2001-2002 Titan Tradition Yearbook. We hope that through our efforts, we have captured the exciting life at Ainlay within these pages!
